Unit 1: Jupiter

Jupiter is the happy planet, and is the planet of expansion at its core. This means Jupiter is the planet you want to look to in order to pursue opportunities. Opportunities are just a form of expansion!

When it comes to Jupiter, the conjunction is considered a positive aspect (can be a hard aspect with other planets, but Jupiter likes to keep things light!). The traditional hard aspects (squares and oppositions) can be as hard as with other planets, however the difference with Jupiter is if you put in some effort, you can turn things around much quicker and more easily.

Since Jupiter expands, that means this planet can expand on both the good and the bad. When good things happen, Jupiter makes them even better! But when bad things happen, Jupiter can make them a lot worse. Again, the trick is to put in effort to turn things around. That happens more easily with Jupiter

The hard part is finding the motivation to take action since hard Jupiter can bring out major laziness and indulgence. Jupiter's like, well it'll all work out on it's own so I'm just going to nap - and then everything gets worse! So don't give in to laziness. There is great opportunity with Jupiter, even when it seems like it's being a jerk!

Transit Jupiter in the Natal Houses

Interpretations can apply for transit Jupiter in the natal houses as well as the progressed houses (and relocated houses).

If you have any of the houses cusps at a critical or anaretic degree, or have natal Saturn, Uranus, or Pluto in them, or any intercepted planets in them, the block/challenges that they represent can get more focus while Jupiter is touring that house. This can bring easier energy for working on them, and you can try to use their energy productively.

While in the 1st house, transit Jupiter can bring opportunities into almost any and every area of your life. Jupiter in the 1st house is one of the best transits with Jupiter! (along with Jupiter conjunct the Sun and Moon) Since the 1st house rules the self, you can take advantage of any opportunity to expand and explore, can be open to new experiences, have a more positive outlook, and can have a little luck on your side. Laziness can be extra with this position though, so that has to be managed.

While in the 2nd house, transit Jupiter can focus on your finances, and this can be a great period to make more money. Just make sure you're not spending way more too! You can also work on pursuing opportunities to bring more stability and security into your life, and calm some of the chaos. Your values may be more important to you, and you can try to love more according to them. This is also a good time to be in the moment more, and not rush so much.

While in the 3rd house, transit Jupiter can focus on your ideas, and you can pursue opportunities to do something with your ideas. You may come up with plenty of new ones, so the trick is to take action with them. Don't just let them waste away! There is bound to be some diamonds in there. The 3rd house is an active house, so you can keep yourself busy, be more engaging, and fill up your calendar. Being idle likely won't feel right during this transit, so keep going, and keep finding new opportunities!

While in the 4th house, transit Jupiter can focus on your home and family life, and you can pursue opportunities to improve your home or living situation (moving, renovating, remodeling, redecorating, etc.) or to improve connections with family. You may bring more people into your "family", and can see your family expand. You can feel more emotionally optimistic, and can improve your internal foundation so you feel stronger. This can help sharpen your emotional instincts.

While in the 5th house, transit Jupiter can focus on love in your life, and you can pursue opportunities to make love more of a focus for you. This may mean taking on new hobbies, making time for existing hobbies, planning more getaways or vacations, spending more time with loved ones, or falling in love (or falling in love again!). It's a time for romance, a time of creativity, and a time for being guided by your heart. This is usually one of the most fun transits you experience.

While in the 6th house, transit Jupiter can focus on your work and daily life, and you can pursue work opportunities that give you greater flexibility, more enjoyment, or a sense of purpose. If you don't like what you're doing, fair warning, Jupiter might make you hate it even more! It's just to try and push you to take action and do what you love. You may want more space in your daily life, yet can also find you're better able to handle whatever life throws at you if you have some structure and order. This is also a good transit to focus on your health.

While in the 7th house, transit Jupiter can focus on your relationships, and you can pursue opportunities with a partner or through someone you know. You may feel you have more opportunities with someone by your side than alone. There may also be a lot of time spent during this transit focusing on others rather than yourself, and giving attention and support to those who need it. You can improve your existing relationships, and try to enter into new ones that will be healthy and supportive.

While in the 8th house, transit Jupiter can focus on transforming, and you can pursue opportunities to transform different aspects of your life or of yourself. This can clear out anything that has been holding you back, and you can emerge feeling strong. You can manage serious matters with greater ease, and you can share a lot more with others. This house governs mutually beneficial partnerships, and this can prove to be fruitful. And this house does rule sex, so don't miss out on that! ;p

While in the 9th house, transit Jupiter can focus on expansion, and you can pursue opportunities to expand and explore. Jupiter naturally rules the 9th house, so you can feel more comfortable with focusing on opportunities and expanding your life. You can feel more daring, a little bold, and want to have new experiences. You can open your mind to learning new things and teaching, writing, or speaking. You want to take advantage of the opportunities during this transit to prepare for when Jupiter moves into the 10th house.

While in the 10th house, transit Jupiter can focus on your goals, and you can pursue opportunities to make progress with your goals and achieve success. If you've been working hard and smart at something for a while, this is a transit that can bring the rewards. It's one of the most important transits for your professional life, and we can often achieve big goals. You can get recognition for whatever you've done, and can catch the eye of the right people in the right places.

While in the 11th house, transit Jupiter can focus on your future, and you can pursue opportunities to make progress with the dreams you have for your future. You can make changes and feel more open to trying what's different and unconventional, and can feel more independent yet also work well with groups. You can expand your social circle and meet lots of new people who open up more opportunities for you. Opportunities can come in unexpected ways from unexpected places.

While in the 12th house, transit Jupiter can focus on letting go, and you can pursue opportunities to release baggage and come to an understanding with the past. This tends to be a quieter period for reflection and turning inward, and you can get in tune with your subconscious and intuition. You may become interested in spiritual pursuits, and you can do some work behind the scenes, in the background, on your own, with no one watching. This period is meant to be spent clearing out what's no longer needed and preparing for when transit Jupiter moves into your 1st house.

Transit Jupiter Aspects

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Sun can focus on expansion of the self and of your life. You can be so much more optimistic and see opportunities all around you, and you want to have new experiences and create new things. The sextile and trine make this easiest, and the conjunction brings the biggest opportunities (have to pursue them so you don't miss out!). Squares and oppositions can make you lazy and defensive so you have to work through that in order to access the positive energy still available to you.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Moon can focus on expansion in ways that make you feel more emotionally secure. You can focus on the good things in your life, the things that make you feel good, and you can tend to your emotional self. The sextile and trine bring out even more of the good feelings, and the conjunction can make you feel extra good but also sometimes extra lazy. Squares and oppositions can make it so you have a hard time being objective and need to step out of your own bubble to get moving.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Mercury can focus on expansion of your mind. You can pursue opportunities to make progress with your ideas, put together more plans, talk things over with others, and have a generally more active mind. The sextile and trine can open you up to more knowledge and facts, and the conjunction can help you take everything in your head and pull it out into the world. Squares and oppositions can make you mentally lazy and talk big, so getting that under control and backing your words with action can overcome.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Venus can focus on expansion in your connections with others. You can pursue opportunities to meet new people, enter into new relationships and partnerships, and to do things with a partner. You can feel more optimistic around others, and you may focus on helping those you care about. The sextile and trine can bring good connections with others, and the conjunction can make you crave a connection more and feel open to committing to others. Squares and oppositions can make you lazier in your dealings with others, so you can have to work through that.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Mars can expand on your energy and drive. You can feel more motivated to take action with opportunities, and you can push for what you want for yourself. You can work independently and with enthusiasm and optimism. The sextile and trine can make this happen with ease, and the conjunction can make it very important for you to have something to work on to channel the extra energy. Squares and oppositions can bring out some impatience and impulsiveness, so that has to be tamped down so you can get focused.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Saturn can play expansion and discipline off of one another, depending on the aspect. The sextile and trine can make it easy for you to explore opportunities in disciplined ways, and expand on progress you make with your goals. The conjunction can sometimes cause Saturn to overpower Jupiter, so that has to be controlled. Squares and oppositions can make you feel you're being held back from the opportunities you want, and you have to keep doing things the right way and keep your head down to make progress.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Uranus can focus on independent and individuality. You can pursue opportunities that will create changes in your life, or that will help get you closer to your dreams. You can feel open to the unconventional, and embrace what's different. The sextile and trine can open you up and help you expand your vision of the future, and the conjunction can make you create changes that will be beneficial for expansion. Squares and oppositions may bring out some rebellion and restlessness, and this has to be addressed so you can use the energy productively.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Neptune can focus on your spirituality. You can pursue opportunities that you feel are spiritual in nature or will expand on your spirituality. Your imagination and compassion can run high, and you can be more creative. The sextile and trine can help you get along with others and feel more in tune with your spiritual self, and the conjunction can increase your charisma and make you more pleasant. Squares and oppositions can cloud your judgment and require some boundaries so you can make use of the spiritual and creative energy

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Pluto can focus on power. You can pursue opportunities that allow you to gain more power and control in your life, and you can make transformations needed in order to allow for more power and control. The sextile and trine can assist you in finding the power and control without too much struggle, and the conjunction can help with transforming to gain more power. Squares and oppositions may bring fights over power and control that needs to be avoided, and the passion created needs a productive outlet.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your Chiron can focus on healing and growth. You can pursue opportunities that help you to heal wounds and grow as a person, and you can open up new opportunities for yourself as you heal. The sextile and trine can help you do this without feeling overly sensitive, and the conjunction can make healing very important, but can also make you a little sensitive and in need of some guarding. Squares and oppositions may bring out sensitivity the most, and you have to work more on healing in order to get to the positive energy.

When transit Jupiter is aspecting your natal Black Moon Lilith, you can focus on growing your power and independence. The conjunction helps you to expand on your own power and pursue opportunities that allow you to do so. The sextile and trine make it easier for you to naturally use Lilith energy. Squares and oppositions can bring out more difficulties with people who oppose you, but if you can cut through laziness, preachiness, and excess, you can turn things around.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your natal Jupiter is in the next section!

Aspects to Natal Jupiter

Aspects by transit Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, and Mars to your natal Jupiter don't last very long, but they can provide a window of a few hours (Moon) to a few days where you may focus more on expanding and exploring, wanting space and opportunity.

Transit Jupiter aspecting your natal Jupiter can expand on healing energy with the conjunction, sextile, and trine; you can still experience the expansion with the square and opposition, but there may be some lazy energy involved, a lack of motivation that needs to be found in order to use the expansive healing energy. With the conjunction, you may feel your wounds more strongly, but can have more opportunity for healing and growth.

Transit Saturn aspecting your natal Jupiter focuses on expansion and limitation and how you work with them. This can be in a positive way with the sextile and trine; with the conjunction, Saturn may have some lessons for Jupiter to learn first before any expansion can be had. The square and opposition may mean that you have to learn to work within your limitations for a little while, finding space where you can manage it.

Transit Uranus aspecting your natal Jupiter can be great for making changes that allow you to expand and have new experiences. This can be positive with the sextile and trine; with the conjunction, you may jump into opportunities and not think too much beforehand, but this can get you in hot water sometimes, so try to think first. The square and opposition can make for rebellion and impatience, and you may want to push hard and without thinking for space. Try to avoid doing that.

Transit Neptune aspecting your natal Jupiter focuses on your spiritual self. You can give more attention to your beliefs, and use your spirituality as a way of expanding and having new experiences. This can be positive with the sextile and trine; with the conjunction, you may have difficulty seeing things clearly thanks to Neptune's fog, so trusting your instincts is key. The square and opposition can make the fog even thicker, and boundaries are important so you don't get taken advantage of.

Transit Pluto aspecting your natal Jupiter focuses on transforming so you can expand. Transformations can clear the path for new experiences, exploring, and evolving. This can be positive with the sextile and trine; with the conjunction, transforming must happen otherwise there can be struggles over power and control. The square and opposition can make it more difficult for you to figure out the right way to go, and you may struggle with beliefs that are holding you back, or a lack of motivation that needs to be worked on.

Transit Chiron aspecting your natal Jupiter can focus on your wounds. The sextile and trine can offer great opportunities for healing, and this can be done in easier ways, with less trouble. The conjunction can expand on wounds you already have, but also help you see what needs to be worked on and how to heal from it. The square and opposition can make you feel your wounds deeper, and you may resist doing anything about them, but need to face them so you can heal and move on.

Transit Black Moon Lilith aspecting your natal Jupiter can help you fight for your beliefs. You can stand up for what you believe in and let yourself be heard. This can be positive with the sextile and trine, and more important with the conjunction as you feel you must speak up. The square and opposition can bring opposition and challenges from others, but you can stand your ground against them. Just try not to become irrational as they are.

Jupiter Returns

A return occurs when a planet (or asteroid) returns to the exact position it was at when you were born. Jupiter returns every 11-12 years or so. Jupiter Returns are usually seen as incredibly positive times for expansion, exploration, and new experiences.

This can play out most with the sign and house placement of your Jupiter in the natal chart, and the areas of life ruled by the sign and house can see expansion, opportunity, and growth. You can feel more optimistic and want to make things better.

You can also create a Jupiter Return chart for the moment of the return, and the chart can be dissected for further ideas of what may be focused on for the return. Since Jupiter returns every 11-12 years, the return chart is in play for that entire time. It can be helpful to track the movement of Jupiter through the return chart during those years to see when it may trigger an opportunity in your life.

Unit 2: North Node

The Lunar Nodes are extremely important in your natal chart when you want to understand your potential and purpose (North Node) and baggage and crutches (South Node). In transit, they can bring their old-new energy to what they touch in your chart.

When looking at the Lunar Nodes in the houses, because they are exactly opposite one another, you'll interpret the North Node in one house and the South Node in the exact opposite house, just like with their natal locations.

When looking at aspects being made by the transit Lunar Nodes, I mostly just look at conjunctions by either to any of the planets. I really don't factor in sextiles or trines with them; I find their energy just isn't strong at all. I also don't really find squares to be important unless you have planets square the natal Lunar Nodes that the transit Lunar Nodes will conjunct (but then it's about the transit Nodes conjunct stirring up the energy of the squared planet and whatever is connected to it, and not so much about the natal Nodes). So the conjunctions will be the only aspects considered by the transit Lunar Nodes.

Transit Lunar Nodes in the Houses

I don't really factor in the transit Lunar Nodes to the progressed houses, only the natal houses (except when they're conjuncting the progressed angles).

North Node in the 1st house gives you better timing, helps you to focus on your own potential, and you can embrace new opportunities and take initiative with what you want for yourself. The South Node would be in the 7th house at the same time, so you would also need to release people from your life that weigh you down, and address relationship issues and crutches. This axis also promotes the need for balance.

North Node in the 2nd house provides beneficial financial energy, and you can work on bringing more stability and security into your life. You can improve your confidence, and get grounded. The South Node would be in the 8th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on a deeply-held issue, and work on letting go of extremes. This axis also promotes the need for using resources well.

North Node in the 3rd house brings energy for ideas, helps you focus your mental energy, and you can get excited by new ideas and plans. You can also work on connecting more with your immediate environment. The South Node would be in the 9th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on issues with expanding, with your beliefs, or with opening yourself up to the world. This axis also promotes the need for mental stimulation and open communication.

North Node in the 4th house can be great for building a strong foundation in your life, making improvements in your home and family life, and tending to emotional needs. The South Node would be in the 10th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on irresponsibility, dealing with restrictions and limitations, and get out of your own way. This axis also promotes the need for a solid foundation internally and externally.

North Node in the 5th house stimulates creative energy, affection, and getting more attention from others. You can get in touch with your heart and playful side. The South Node would be in the 11th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on issues of detachment, with being an individual, or with pursuing your dreams. This axis also promotes the need for social connections.

North Node in the 6th house brings helpful energy for work, being productive, improving daily life, and tackling your health. You can be more detailed and work on bringing structure to life. The South Node would be in the 12th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on subconscious issues, old issues from the past, baggage that needs to be let go of, or karmic issues. This axis also promotes the need to be of service.

North Node in the 7th house brings beneficial energy for relationships, partnerships, commitment, and compromise. You can improve connections, and bring new people into your life. The South Node would be in the 1st house at the same time, so you would also need to work on personal issues of the self, with your identity, or with how you stand in your own way. This axis also promotes the need for balance.

North Node in the 8th house can be excellent energy for transforming for the better, some aspect of yourself or part of your life. You can share more, and can be researching. The South Node would be in the 2nd house at the same time, so you would also need to work on issues with being confident, grounded, feeling secure, or stabilizing life. This axis also promotes the need for using resources well.

North Node in the 9th house can open you up to expansion in your life, and you can focus on having new experiences. You can be optimistic, and want to explore. The South Node would be in the 3rd house at the same time, so you would also need to work on issues with your immediate environment, communication, and expression. This axis also promotes the need for mental stimulation and open communication.

North Node in the 10th house can help you make progress with goals, bring recognition or some success, and you can strive to accomplish important things. You can be more responsible and disciplined. The South Node would be in the 4th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on emotional issues, issues with the home/family, or issues at your core. This axis also promotes the need for a solid foundation internally and externally.

North Node in the 11th house can make you more independent, open to the unconventional, push you outside of your comfort zone, or help you find your place. You can think about the future and work on your dreams. The South Node would be in the 5th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on issues of love, with creative expression, or with getting attention. This axis also promotes the need for social connections.

North Node in the 12th house can make you more spiritual, intuitive, and in tune with your soul. You can be more compassionate, imaginative, and do well on your own or in the background. The South Node would be in the 6th house at the same time, so you would also need to work on issues with work, the mundane, and with your connection to the physical world. This axis also promotes the need to be of service.

Transit North Node Conjunct the Natal Planets

The Sun rules the self, so when the transit North Node conjuncts the Sun, this can be a great time for you personally, and you can focus the energy on almost any and every area of life (though it'll be strongest in the areas of life ruled by the house your Sun rules and is located). You can find new opportunities, and feel that you're being pushed closer to your potential in life. This can feel uncomfortable at times, a little scary, but you should try to embrace it.

The Moon is your emotional self, so when the transit North Node is conjunct, this can be great for emotional focus. You can work on strengthening yourself emotionally, making improvements at home or with family, and feeling more stable and secure. You can get in touch with your nurturing, supportive side, and expand your support system. There may be a degree of difficulty with connecting to your emotional self, and part of you may not feel comfortable, especially if you usually aren't very connected to your emotions or open with your feelings. But you should try to push through discomfort.

Mercury is your mind, so when the transit North Node is conjunct Mercury, you can have extra mental energy and focus. You can come up with plenty of new ideas, new plans, and keep yourself busy. You can be more engaging, and want to connect with others mentally. If you're normally mentally insecure, this may be a difficult period where you want to avoid being open with your plans and ideas, but you should use the energy to work on opening up and finding confidence in your mind.

Venus is your relationships, so the transit North Node conjunct Venus brings beneficial energy to your relationships. You can work on connecting better with others, bring new people into your life, make commitments to others, and can be more compromising. You can also work to be more grounded and confident. If you're normally insecure, you may have to work on those issues. You may feel the need to pull away from people if you normally aren't very open, and that needs to be avoided.

Mars is energy and drive, so when the transit North Node conjuncts Mars, you can get a surge in energy and drive for new pursuits. You can be more enthusiastic and excited, and want to pursue new opportunities. If normally afraid of taking initiative, you may shy away from the energy, but you need to challenge yourself to make the most of it.

Jupiter is expansion, so when the transit North Node conjuncts Jupiter, you can focus on opportunities to expand your life in new ways. You can be open to new experiences, and want to understand more about the world. You may feel optimistic, and a little lucky. If prone to excess or laziness, you may shy away from the expansive energy and let it pass by being lazy or indulgent. Try to avoid that, otherwise you will miss out on such nice energy.

Saturn is goals and ambitions, so when the transit North Node is conjunct Saturn, you can work on achieving and succeeding. You can make good impressions and make important connections. You can make progress along your life path, and feel that you're going in the right direction, but only if you go about things the right way. If you don't, you can struggle or experience a setback.

Uranus is individuality, so when the transit North Node conjuncts Uranus, you can embrace your individuality, feel more independent, and push yourself outside of your comfort zone. You can focus on your future, your hopes and dreams, and make changes in your life to get closer to them. If you're normally uncomfortable with your individuality or being independent, this can be an uncomfortable transit, and you have to work on that.

Neptune is spiritual, so when the transit North Node conjuncts Neptune, you can get more in tune with your spiritual self. You can explore your spirituality, strengthen intuition, and feel more mystical. You can also be more compassionate, and help others. If you're normally afraid of embracing your spiritual self, this can be uncomfortable, but the transit wants you to.

Pluto is power, so when the transit North Node conjuncts Pluto, you can find more personal power, take more control in life, and can be more of a force to be reckoned with. You can feel stronger, have a strong will, and can rise from the ashes of past defeat. If you normally avoid having power and control, this can be uncomfortable, but you need to work on taking your own power and control.

Chiron is the healer, so when the transit North Node conjuncts Chiron, you can focus on finding new ways of healing and growing as a person. You may be pushed to address old wounds that need attention, and this may feel uncomfortable at first, but it can help you grow as you gain more understanding. This is an excellent time to deal with any wounds and embrace your inner healer.

Black Moon Lilith is an inner power, so when the transit North Node conjuncts Black Moon Lilith, you may have an opportunity to find more of your inner power and take it for yourself. You may have to stand up against someone or something and use your inner power to help you, and this may be frazzling and scary, but can offer the potential to learn new ways of standing up for yourself and speaking out.

Transit Aspects to Natal North Node

When the transit Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, or Mars are conjunct your natal North Node, you get a short period of a few hours to a few days where you can focus on your potential and purpose, and try to manifest that.

When transit Jupiter is conjunct your natal North Node, this can make it easier for you to embrace your potential and purpose. It doesn't feel as uncomfortable, and you can benefit even more when you do actually focus on manifesting your North Node.

When transit Saturn is conjunct your natal North Node, this can actually make it more difficult for you to manifest your North Node energy, but usually if you haven't been trying, haven't been going about it the right way, or have a very big Saturn lesson to learn first. If none of that is the case, Saturn can help you make progress with your North Node energy.

When transit Uranus is conjunct your natal North Node, you can embrace your potential and purpose in your own unique way. You can take an unconventional approach, and you can make changes that clear the way for you to realize your potential. You may have sudden, unexpected opportunities to move toward your potential and purpose.

When transit Neptune conjuncts your natal North Node, you can focus much more on your potential in life, what you feel that your destiny is, and you can strengthen your connection to your spiritual self and intuition so you can trust your instincts. Neptune may cloud your vision of your purpose and potential though, so you do need that strong intuition to help guide you through the fog.

When transit Pluto conjuncts your natal North Node, you can feel more confident in your potential, and can move mountains in order to make progress. You can take more control over your path in life, and if there needs to be a transformation in order to make things happen, you can do it willingly.

When transit Chiron conjuncts your natal North Node, this can stimulate the need for healing. Any wounds that have been holding you back from moving forward and finding your potential and purpose can get your attention, and you have to work on healing them so you free yourself. You can embrace your healing abilities, and can be more understanding.

When transit Black Moon Lilith conjuncts your natal North Node, this can put you in a situation where you have to speak up and speak out. You may feel called to do so, like this is the time for you to stand up and be heard. You may experience opposition to this, but you can push through if you believe in what you're pursuing.

Unit 3: White Moon Selena

White Moon Selena is a protector in your natal chart, a point of positive energy and assistance on your path. Transits by White Moon Selena and to White Moon Selena can bring this out, or make it easier or more difficult. You can channel your inner White Moon Selena more, and can focus in certain ways depending on the aspect.

Transit White Moon Selena in the Houses

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 1st house, you can feel more connected to your inner Selena. You can be more protective of others, and work on growing, evolving, and finding your purpose and path. You can be more open about how you're working on this, and want to do things the right way.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 2nd house, you can focus on growing in ways that help you connect with your values, or changing your values to allow you to grow. Stability and security can help you feel comfortable enough to find your path. You may also work on evolving your connection with money.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 3rd house, you can come up with ideas to get on the right path, and feel your ideas have a little more juice behind them. You can feel more protective of your immediate environment, and you can feel yourself growing mentally.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 4th house, you can feel more protective of your home and family, and can work on growing emotionally. Strengthening your internal foundation may help with that, and you can start at the bottom with something that can take time to work out.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 5th house, you can feel more protective of the people you love and the things you love to do. You can use your creativity to grow and put yourself on the right path. Connecting to your heart can help you feel that you're doing things right.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 6th house, you can feel more protective of your work, and you can focus on trying to get on the right path with the work you do and with your daily life. Tending to your health may help with making you feel ready for movement forward.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 7th house, you can feel more protective of the people in your life and with your relationships. You can work on getting on the right path with your relationships, and try to grow your relationships and yourself within your relationships.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 8th house, you can feel more protective of anything you share with others, and you can find that transforming helps you to grow. You may dig deeper inside of yourself to find ways of growing more, and share your growth with others.

When transit White Moon Selena is in the 9th house, you can feel more protective of your beliefs, and you can use your beliefs to grow, or try to get on the right path with your beliefs. You can use expansion as well, and open up your mind to new experiences.

Unit 4: Asteroid Abundantia

You can track asteroids just like the transit planets, and see what houses they're touring in your natal chart and what aspects they're making to your natal planets. Asteroids in the houses can be more subtle energy than the planets in the houses though, so they can get more attention when they're making aspects.

Aspects with asteroids have a much smaller orb. Asteroids don't pack the same punch as planets! I usually stick to a 2 degree orb anyway for planets, and for asteroids, your orb should be 1-2 degrees (I usually stick to 1 with asteroids).

Transit Asteroid Abundantia in the Houses

1st house: You can focus on bringing abundance into your life overall, or into any aspect of your life. You can feel more abundant in general, and want to bring out opportunity wherever you can. You can work on starting new projects and ventures that open up more opportunities to you.

2nd house: You can focus on having more financial abundance, and you can make more, spend more, and give finances more attention. You may be more indulgent, and want to surround yourself with more beauty. Your senses can be heightened, and you can focus on your values.

3rd house: You may have an abundance of ideas and come up with new plans, and you can openly communicate more often about what's on your mind. You can keep yourself very busy to use up the extra mental energy you have, and fill up your schedule with things to do.

4th house: You may have an abundance of emotional energy, and you can use this to motivate you to take action for what you want. You can work on opportunities with family or at home, and you can strengthen your internal foundation to help you feel more abundant.

5th house: You may experience an abundance of creative energy, and this can be a good time to focus on creative projects and ventures. You can make more time for what you enjoy most, and can be more romantic, playful, and in tune with your heart and desires.

6th house: You may have more abundance through your work, and you can take on more work projects, tasks, and chores, and can revamp your routine and schedule to give you more time. You can pursue opportunities to create more abundance in your daily life.

7th house: You may encounter many new people in your life, and focus on abundance in your relationships. You can work to improve your connections with others, and you may unlock more opportunities for yourself through the relationships and connections you have.

8th house: You may bring new life into many different things during this time, experiencing an abundance of transformations. You can dig deeper into a variety of subjects and matters, and you can use an abundance of serious energy to approach situations requiring solutions.

9th house: You may focus on expansion and opportunity, and may have an abundance of them. You can pursue opportunities for travel and exploration, for new experiences, and take on new knowledge. You can open up to expanding your life in new ways.

10th house: You may focus on abundance in your career or goals, and can pursue opportunities to achieve and succeed. The more you achieve, the more success you can have. Setbacks may snowball though and need to be nipped in the bud. There may be extra responsibilities to manage.

11th house: You may bring an abundance of new people into your life and expand your social circle. You can focus on your dreams, and can experience an abundance of hope and idealism. You can do more to help others, and feel more involved in the world.

12th house: You may focus on creating more abundance in your life quietly, on your own, without anyone interfering. You can let go of baggage holding you back from more abundance, and you can work on subconscious issues that have been blocking you.

The sextile and trine can be more subtle with this energy but also present. Squares and oppositions might make you feel insecure about using your talents or lacking support, and you may need to work on growth so keep you on track.

When transit North Node is conjunct your natal asteroid Talent, you may be pushed to use your talents in some way that you're meant.

This may feel uncomfortable and unfamiliar though, so there may be some resistance, but there is assistance available if you push through.

When transit South Node is conjunct your natal asteroid Talent, it can be easier for you to use your talents, and you feel comfortable doing so. But it may be used as a crutch or excuse in some way, so try not to let that happen.

Unit 6: Asteroid of Your Name

You can track the transit asteroid of your name and follow it through the houses of your natal chart (which bring attention to the areas of life ruled by the house it's in). You can also track aspects, from the transit asteroid of your name to your natal planets, from the transit planets to the natal asteroid of your name, and as an extra, from the transit asteroid of your name to the other transit planets. Lots that you can track!

In the houses and aspecting your natal planets, the transit asteroid of your name will have energy similar to the transit Sun in your natal houses and aspecting your natal planets. Transit aspects to your natal asteroid of your name will be similar to transit aspects to your natal Sun.

Aspects between the transit asteroid of your name and other transit planets can be incredibly strong when one is turning retrograde or direct making that aspect (this can make it in play for a while), or when they're riding together at about the same speed for a period of time (which can also extend it).

These are general interpretations for the transit Sun in the houses and aspects, but they can apply for the transit asteroid of your name (and aspects to the natal planets can also apply for aspects between the transit asteroid of your name and transit planets):

1st House

Your focus is on you. You can work on your appearance, make changes in the way you behave with others, and need to express yourself in some way. You want attention more than usual, wanting to be in the spotlight. It's a good time to start something new in your life, especially going down a new path. You're more independent, but also self-centered, but that doesn't have to be a bad thing. You need to focus on yourself every once in a while. You're more confident, bold, and daring, and you're willing to go out and take what you want without waiting for anyone's permission or help.

2nd House

Your focus is on your material wealth. You may try to work out your finances so you feel as though you have more money, or do some extra work to make more. Having more disposable income makes you feel more secure, as well as having more objects that are of value, so you may purchase something that will be worth more over time. Just make sure you don't spend too much on it now. You may seem more grounded and practical, and you don't want to rock the boat. You likely won't start much new during this time, and instead continue to work on the projects that you've already started.

3rd House

Your focus is on communicating. Your mind is more active, you have more ideas and thoughts, and you want people to hear what you have to say. You're more social, so this can be a good time to make connections. You want to stay busy, and can take on many tasks, but usually smaller ones that can be completed quickly. You'll have trouble with anything long-term because your concentration isn't great, and you're a little scatterbrained. You keep your schedule packed, and this can be a good time for some short trips. You may want to learn something new, or are more curious about the way things work.

4th House

Your focus is on your home and family. You may do something new to your home to spruce it up, buy or sell a home, move, or fix something. You could do more with your family, spending more time with them than working or being social, and can have family outings or get-togethers at home. You want to feel as though you have a solid home base, a place that's comfortable and where you feel secure, and that you're connected to your family. You can work on building up your inner foundation and getting in touch with your emotions. It's also good for planning long-term projects.

5th House

Your focus is on fun. You don't want to sit around, work, or deal with serious issues. Engage in your favorite hobbies, go out with friends, attend parties, and go on dates. You're a little more daring and a lot more enthusiastic about life. You seem more friendly and outgoing, and you come across as warm and funny. You want attention, and you can get it. You may be a little more dramatic and theatrical with your behavior, but you're just living life to the fullest right now, experiencing and enjoying as much as you can, and you want everyone to get in on it with you so you have company.

6th House

Your focus is on work. It's not the time for play and silliness. You can get through work projects easily because you're more focused and pay attention to the details. This is an excellent time for getting done smaller projects, but not the larger ones since you'll have a harder time dealing with the big picture. You can deal with your day-to-day affairs, the mundane tasks of life that most of us shun, and make improvements to your routine, as well as your health. You're better at working by yourself but for others rather than starting things up on your own. You can come across as more analytical, distant, and a bit of a perfectionist. You could also deal with or get a pet.

7th House

Your focus is on other people and your relationships. It's less about you and more about them. You work better with a partner, and feel better when you're with someone in a one-on-one setting. You can have a hard time doing anything alone or being in a crowd. You want to make improvements to your relationships and become more committed. You come across as more charming, mediating, and can make compromises happen. You're also concerned with balance, and try to strike the perfect balance in your life, so if you've been spending a lot of time on work, you'll spend more time playing, and try to balance the scales.

8th House

Your focus is on transforming some part of your life. You're not satisfied with leaving things the way they are, and want to make something better. This could be some aspect of your life, personality, or even a physical object. You spend more time by yourself reflecting on life, and seem more serious, brooding, and emotional. Your emotions can sway between extremes, and you may hold a lot in and be secretive. You're excellent at researching now, and can dig below the surface of anything to get to the heart of the matter. You can also deal with your joint finances, financial partnerships, debts, loans, taxes, and inheritances.

9th House

Your focus is on expanding your world. You want to have experiences that open you up to the other ways in which people live, and give you greater perspective. You may spend time with people who are from different countries, cultures, and backgrounds from yourself. This is a good time to learn something new, study philosophy, or go back to school. You identify more with your beliefs, and love to have a lively debate about it with people. You're more outspoken and willing to voice your opinions. You have an easier time dealing with the big picture, but have a harder time with daily life. You're more honest, blunt almost, and might stick your foot in your mouth.

10th House

Your focus is on the direction your life is taking and your goals. You want to take a look at how your life is unfolding and where you're going in life, and determine whether or not you're going in the direction that you want to be going in. You want to accomplish a goal, and are more hard-working and sacrificing to get it. You take a more practical approach to life, and have to deal with bosses, parents, mentors, or other elders. You're recognized for work that you've done, and can be praised, or you can be punished if you haven't been behaving right or smart. It's a time to be responsible and mature.

11th House

Your focus is on independence and the future. You want to do things in groups, spend time with friends, and are quite sociable, but you don't actually need any of them, and don't want to feel tied down to anyone or anything. You keep yourself somewhat at a distance from people and don't want to deal with emotional drama. You concentrate more on your future, what your dream future would look like, and what your hopes are. You have a better grasp on what you want your future to be, and can formulate ideas of what your ultimate aspirations are. You're also more of a humanitarian now, and want to help the world as a whole, so you may get involved in a cause. You're attracted to the unconventional, and don't want to be put in a box.

12th House

Your focus is on your subconscious and letting go. Old issues can come up that you need to face and move on from. This is a good time to get rid of baggage, and clear your life physically, mentally, emotionally, or spiritually. There's always something that you can get rid of. You may feel drained, especially around people, and need to spend more time alone to recharge. You don't want to be in the spotlight, and prefer to stay in the background and not get any attention from people. You may seem more sensitive and emotional, require more rest, and are more intuitive. You're also more compassionate, and you want to help people who can't help themselves.

Aspects to Natal Sun

Conjunct your natal Sun, you should do something just for yourself. It's a new time for you to start something big for the next year, and you can have energy, drive, and focus. Sextile or trine your natal Sun, you can express yourself more easily and feel more confident than usual. You could be recognized for something that you've done. Your energy and vitality is strong, as is your will. Square or opposite your natal Sun, whatever you want to make happen is more difficult. You can experience opposition or issues that cause tension and challenge you, but you could learn from them. Also watch your physical body because you're more likely to feel sick, lethargic, or be injured.

Aspects to Natal Moon

Conjunct your natal Moon, you feel at one with your emotions, which can make you feel more self-assured with yourself and your direction. Your home is especially good for you now, making you feel more in sync. You're enthusiastic about life, and it's a good time to start something new that can be worked on over the next few weeks. Sextile or trine your natal Moon, new prospects may be presented to you that you can deal with well. You can hone your energy on whatever it is you need to get done. Physically, you have more strength, stamina, and feel healthier. You can increase the quality of your relationships with this aspect. Square or opposite your natal Moon, you can be impulsive, doing things without thinking. You may work hard without seeing results, making you frustrated. Trying something new isn't favorable during these few days. You may not be clear about your feelings, and this can bring problems or start a fight in a relationship. Physically, you're not up to par, and can feel weaker, sick, or tired. Stress can increase. You can try to deal with this energy by recognizing your emotions and not letting them override logic.

Aspects to Natal Mercury

Conjunct natal Mercury, your mind works faster than usual, and you don't have to take the time to think things through because it happens instantly. You may need to adapt to a situation, are more honest, and have a lot to say, but have a hard time listening. Sextile or trine natal Mercury, your mind is open to learning, and you have an easier time dealing with smaller tasks and the details. You can share what you think and people will listen. Square or opposite natal Mercury, you may have a lot to do, or are too scatterbrained to get through much. You can have a hard time dealing with your emotions, could have a fight or misunderstanding with someone, or feel anxious and nervous.

Aspects to Natal Venus

Conjunct natal Venus, you can be creative and desire attention and affection. You try to be graceful and charming, and need to be around people. It's a good time to improve your physical appearance, go to a social function, have a date, and be romantic. Sextile or trine natal Venus, you enjoy being around people, and come across as more charming and attractive. You can be a good mediator, and have an easier time dealing with your finances. Square or opposite natal Venus, you may want something that you don't or can't have, and you could spend on something you don't need and regret it later. You can feel as if people are taking you for granted or that you're lonely. You're lazier than usual and can overindulge.

Aspects to Natal Mars

Conjunct natal Mars, you want to get things started now and won't wait for anyone. You're pioneering, assertive, and go for exactly what you want. Your energy is high, and if you don't find an outlet for it, you'll become cranky, argumentative, and aggressive. Sextile or trine natal Mars, you can stand up for yourself without running over someone else. You can get things started, but not force the issue if you shouldn't. You're enthusiastic and energetic, and you feel strong and confident. Square or opposite natal Mars, you feel restless, and your energy is either too high or too low. You're easily frustrated, and find yourself fighting with people. You need to find an outlet to direct your energy towards so you can channel it into something positive.

Aspects to Natal Jupiter

Conjunct natal Jupiter, you feel confident and optimistic. You want to expand your life in some way, or experience something that will let you see the world in a new way. You care for others, and you're easy to be around. You can make improvements to yourself or life, or have something come to fruition. Sextile or trine natal Jupiter, you're good with people and can get them on your side. You want to make your life better in some way, have a positive outlook, and feel more daring.

Square or opposite natal Jupiter, you may want more out of life than you have right now. You can be overly optimistic and impractical, indulgent and excessive. If you can try to stay in touch with reality and work with it, you can use the energy well.

Aspects to Natal Saturn

Conjunct natal Saturn, you're in touch with reality far more than usual. It's a good time for self-discipline and control, as well as being hard-working, though you may demand too much of yourself. Continue work on projects you've already started. You're responsible and should manage your time well. Sextile or trine natal Saturn, you have a serious approach to life, and you can begin a new project that takes time and effort. You're not in any rush to get things done. You have an easier time dealing with parents, bosses, mentors, and other elders. Square or opposite natal Saturn, you may feel insecure and question yourself too much, or feel neglected and alone. Confidence is lacking, obstacles block your way, and reality hits you over the head with a brick. If you can avoid getting too down about yourself or life, you can be more responsible.

Aspects to Natal Uranus

Conjunct natal Uranus, you feel independent and want to make a change in your life. You don't want to leave things the way they are, and want to try something completely different. If you can't do anything different, you feel restless and agitated. Something unexpected could happen. Sextile or trine natal Uranus, you seem a little quirky. You want to be unique, your own person, and not follow the crowd. You take an innovative approach to situations. You can do something new that feels like a breath of fresh air. Square or opposite natal Uranus, things can happen out of the blue that you're not prepared for and throw you off. You can feel impatient. You don't want to be like everyone else, and resist conformity. It's up to you to accept the changes that come, because they're usually to your benefit.

Aspects to Natal Neptune

Conjunct natal Neptune, you're more sensitive than usual, as well as more intuitive and creative. You can have a hard time with reality, and can act like a victim, try to escape, or have a hard time understanding things. Sextile or trine natal Neptune, your imagination is active, and you're inspired to create something. You want to help people who can't help themselves, and feel compassionate. Your intuition is good. Square or opposite natal Neptune, your energy can be low, physically, mentally, emotionally, or spiritually. You can experience a setback. You have a hard time focusing on anything. It's better to deal with creative things, and get lost in fantasy.

Aspects to Natal Pluto

Conjunct natal Pluto, you want to have more control. You can have the opportunity to increase your personal power, and you're more likely to keep things to yourself, or discover a secret or mystery. Sextile or trine natal Pluto, you're researching and can dig below the surface. You can focus well, and are driven to gain more power in your life. It's a good time to deal with finances. Square or opposite natal Pluto, you may try to exert power over other people. You can be manipulative or controlling. You may have a hard time accepting things as they are, and push too much. You can fight against obstacles well, and find power deep inside of yourself.

Unit 7: Aspects to Your Sun-Moon Midpoint

When you're tracking transit aspects to your Sun-Moon midpoint, you're going to focus on the hard aspects (just like in the natal chart). I find that when transit aspects are made to the natal Sun-Moon midpoint, this sets off the energy of the sign and house location of the Sun-Moon midpoint, so that's what you'll focus on.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Aries or the 1st house, you may feel compelled to take action with something, start something new, or take the initiative. You can feel more energized, enthusiastic, and focused on what you want for yourself. Use the energy to move forward with something that requires action.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Taurus or the 2nd house, you may want to address financial matters, splurge or indulge, and can feel more sensual or in tune with the physical world. You can get grounded, and this can help you feel more centered. You may work on stability, security, and improve confidence with something.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Gemini or the 3rd house, you may give attention to ideas and plans. You can gather information, share knowledge, have important communications, learn something, or get or give news. You can keep busy, be engaged, and work on something in your immediate environment.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Cancer or the 4th house, you may focus on your emotions, and address emotional issues you're dealing with or let your emotions drive you. You may focus on matters at home or with family, get or give support, and can work on something from the ground up.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Leo or the 5th house, you may want to use creative energy and focus on creative projects, ventures, or opportunities. You can make time for your hobbies and do something fun, or spend time with loved ones. You may want to be playful and not take anything too seriously.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Virgo or the 6th house, you may focus on work that needs to be done, and tackle small projects, tasks, and chores. You can get organized, make lists, and work on your schedule. You may have to focus on the details, tend to your health, or work to manage stress.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Libra or the 7th house, you may give attention to the people in your life and your relationships. You can make compromises, play mediator, act diplomatically, and can be more charming. You may want peace and quiet, and can work on being better balanced.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Scorpio or the 8th house, you may focus on digging deeper into something, trying to get to the core of a matter or person. You can share with others, work on intimacy, or focus on serious issues requiring a solution. You may work on a transformation and bring new life to something.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Sagittarius or the 9th house, you may focus on learning or teaching something, expanding something in your life, going to new places, or having new experiences. You can be more optimistic, and want to pursue opportunities to do something new.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Capricorn or the 10th house, you may want to make progress with your goals, create new long-term plans or work on existing ones, and you can focus on responsibilities you need to tend to. You can feel more ambitious and disciplined, and can work smarter.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Aquarius or the 11th house, you may focus on your dreams, the future, and can feel hopeful. You may be independent, work on a cause, or try to make a change. You can spend time with a friend or group, and you can think outside of the box or do things differently.

If your Sun-Moon midpoint is in Pisces or the 12th house, you may focus on your spiritual needs, issues from the past, or connect with your subconscious. You may work to let go of something you no longer need or finish something you're ready to move on from. You can be compassionate, intuitive, and empathic.

Extra: The Moon

This and the next extra sections are interpretations taken from the website:

Transit Moon in the Houses

Transit Moon in the 1st House

Your energy is much higher when the Moon is traveling through your First House. You have the drive to get things done, and can accomplish many tasks. Confidence can be better, and decisions come easier. Impulsiveness and sensitivity can reign supreme these few days, and you may feel yourself taking greater offense to things that maybe aren't worth it. You could be wounded emotionally if you don't shield yourself a little now as you're more vulnerable. You can be very aware of subtle energies around you, and feel more nurturing of others. Taking some time to meditate or get in touch with your inner world can be easily attained now, and you can make it a positive experience. This may not be a time where you can stick with something, as your mood is more unpredictable. Your appearance may undergo a change (good time for a haircut!). Expressing your feelings might be a strong desire with this placement, but it could go either way, having others accept and support your emotions, or feeling others don't understand. Be careful of how you interpret their reactions – it could just be you being overly sensitive.

Transit Moon in the 2nd House

Finances are tied to your emotions. You may feel you need more money, and that may be true, with an expense coming up, or it may just be an emotional need. There's a greater chance of impulse buying because you're emotionally drawn to items, so make sure you're spending your money wisely, otherwise you may end up with debts you don't want (or need). How your self-esteem and your monetary status are linked may be clear to you now, and any changes that need to be made with that relationship can be done. Making a change in your value system could also be made at this time. Your security is linked to your money during these few days, so what you have may affect how you feel. When this transit is handled well, you can be more practical about your life and feel more grounded, enabling you to be better able to deal with important matters. On the flip-side, you could seem a little predictable and boring during this transit, so don't schedule anything now that requires you to break out of the box and be daring. You may need to watch for overindulgence, especially food-related (and especially if you're watching your weight!), so remember everything in moderation. If in a relationship, you may feel a surge in romantic attraction, and want to do something special for your honey.

Transit Moon in the 3rd House

Busy is the word for this transit. You'll be going nonstop for the few days the Moon is in your Third House, and if you don't have a lot to do, you'll be bored and restless out of your mind, which will make you cranky and irritable. Mental energy is high, and if you're normally an emotional person, this transit can make your emotions cloud your capacity for reason and logic. Words can wound you with ease if you're too sensitive. There can be lots of communications, and you could take a short trip somewhere, perhaps to replenish yourself emotionally. Making an improvement to your close environment can make you feel better right now, as well as being actively engaged in your community. You can communicate how you're feeling more easily, and probably want to, especially about old hurts, and go over other people's feelings as well. On the other hand, you may find yourself talking too much, about anything and everything, ignoring what others have to say and talking right over them. Curiosity is higher, but be careful not to stick your nose where it doesn't belong. Siblings can bring up feelings, positively or negatively. Writing your feelings is good now, so pull out that old journal.

Transit Moon in the 4th House

With the Moon going through your Fourth House, these few days are well spent doing some inspection of the self. Evaluate your roots, your inner foundation, and how well those have been cultivated and what changes, if any, need to be made to strengthen them. Grounding yourself and planting your feet firmly in the earth is positive, especially to increase your sense of security which may need a boost at this point. Understanding your intimate relationships, especially your familial ones, can be achieved now. Being nurturing to yourself and others comes easily, and you may want to just stay at home the days of this transit, spending time alone with your thoughts or with loved ones. You may feel more private, keeping things to yourself and remaining quiet. Memories can be stronger, and you may use them to understand your subconscious mind better. Something could come up with your home or family that causes emotional upheaval. Don't become needy or avoid people too much during this time.

Transit Moon in the 5th House

Being social makes you feel good, and you feel more connected with others when engaging in creative pursuits or just playing around, having fun. Spending time out of the house, doing something fun is usually wanted with the Moon in the Fifth House. Whatever you find that's fun and gives you a reprieve from stress is what you want to do most. This should be a fun time of the month for all if handled well. You're more creative, in tune with your emotions and channeling them through creative outlets. You may be in the mood for love and romance, and want to spend time being romantic with someone special. Your children may be more emotional, or may make you more emotional, or you could have a stronger desire for children or to spend time with children. Laziness can set in with this transit in regards to your daily responsibilities, choosing to just play rather than work. That's fine if it's the weekend. Playing hooky isn't always good when you're grown up. You could also overindulge in things not-so-good for you, so watch yourself a little bit. There can be a greater chance of getting approval from others to secure your sense of self.

Transit Moon in the 6th House

Working is tied to your emotions, and working hard and getting things done make you feel at ease. You won't stop until everything is finished, and you pay more attention to the little things. Productivity is high and you understand which tasks must get done now and which can wait for later. How your relationships at work satisfy you emotionally may become a focus now. Are things really working out for you, or is this job draining more of you than it's giving? Your health can be a concern, and this is a good time to schedule a checkup. Eating better, exercising, and getting adequate sleep will seem important, and any problems with your health can be felt more, so pay attention to what your body's telling you, as this may be the best time to figure out what needs tweaking. If you stress too much, this can take a toll on you physically, so try not to get too wound up about anything. Chaos is also more obvious, and you'll strive to bring a little more structure and organization to your life. You may be more sensitive to animals, and your pet can be emotionally nurturing with this transit.

Transit Moon in the 7th House

Your relationships are intertwined with your feelings, and you may be more prone to expressing your feelings with a partner, or they may be more apt to make you more emotional. How you feel about your relationships comes under the microscope, and this can lead to a better understanding of those relationships or more fighting. If you're overly protective or needy, this could make things worse. If you've been having problems in your relationships, this is the time of the month to work it out. You're better in tune with your feelings about your relationships and your partners and what you need from them. Feeling like you need to be around people can be higher these few days which can make this a social time. You're behavior around others is pleasant, kind, and nurturing. What others say to you, especially about you and your life, can have a greater impact on you and cause emotional distress. Try to see things from their point of view, and don't ask for opinions if you don't want to hear the truth.

Transit Moon in the 8th House

Other people's money makes you emotional. If you're focused on yourself and not others, then you worry about what is happening with it and it drives you crazy that you can't control it. Don't make these few days about you, and they should go smoother. You focus on deeper issues, and your emotions are intense and powerful. You can sway between strong emotions that, once the Moon leaves this house, you don't know why you were so caught up in. Deep-seated fears, desires, and issues can be touched on easily with the Moon traveling through the Eighth House, so if there's something you've been avoiding, now's the time to look into it. This can be a time of jealousy and possessiveness in intimate relationships, especially if you're inclined that way naturally. Don't read into something that there's nothing to read into. This can be one of the more difficult times of the month if you give in to the low points and become bitter or resentful, lonely or unfulfilled. Finding what you feel is significant and important in life can be had now.

Transit Moon in the 9th House

You want to explore your mind, philosophy, religion, and other places. Freedom mentally, emotionally, spiritually, and physically is important during these few days, and it's a good time to get out and go. Roam freely, whether it's driving down a long, open road, submerging yourself in a fantasy novel, spending time meditating and finding your nirvana, or having the best laugh you've had all month. Emotionally, you're lighter, less serious, and more optimistic, feeling like life is just positively endless. Make sure to take advantage of those good feelings, because they might be the best of the month. If you don't allow yourself to have some freedom now, you may feel agitated and bored, wanting to break free from the mundane. You could be more emotionally attached to your beliefs now, so watch for getting in arguments over them by being too fanatical. Evaluating your spiritual path and figuring out which actions better help you on your journey are more easily done with this transit. Ask yourself how you can make your life better. You'll have an easier time coming up with an answer than you think.

Transit Moon in the 10th House

Advancing your life seems important when the Moon is going through this house. Making sure you're choosing to surround yourself with people who will support your endeavors and whom you support as well can be a focus. Also, evaluate whether or not your goals are truly serving a purpose for your inner needs, or just to have some security. Issues related to your social status, career, and authority figures, especially parents, can come up now. You may find you're not satisfied with where you are in your life, and want to make a change. You can also be more sensitive to what people say and think about you. If handled well, this can be a great period for you career-wise, allowing you to make the most progress of the month. If not, then you could be overly involved in your work (workaholic), and feel yourself burning out. You could also have problems listening to others, preferring to tell people what to do, think, and feel rather than listening what they actually want, think, and feel. You could feel more responsible now though, so it can be a good time to deal with your responsibilities and get things done. If you make good decisions, then you can see them coming to fruition later.

Transit Moon in the 11th House

You emotionally crave freedom, and want to try new things and be different from the norm. You feel like rules are shackles. Expressing yourself as an individual is important to you, and you won't be held back. You like innovation and individuality. Though you want to assert yourself as your own person, you may feel better in a group, especially with people who think like yourself. If you're all driving for a cause, even better! This can be a sociable period as you feel more aware of society and that you have a part in it. This can give you a feeling of purpose in the world. Spend these few days going over new ideas and concepts, or doing something good for humanity or the planet. See old friends and reconnect. Be supportive of them and they'll be supportive of you. Do some work in your community. Whatever you choose to do during these few days, make sure that it's geared towards achieving some sort of hope or dream. If you don't know what your hopes and dreams are, this time of the month can give you the opportunity to find out.

Transit Moon in the 12th House

Your emotions are more hidden, though you may be more emotional than normal. You don't outwardly express them, keeping them to yourself, preferring peace and quiet to emotional drama. Just relaxing and being at one with yourself is good now, and taking a break from the world can help rejuvenate you. This is the best time to let go of what your life requires of you and just letting yourself be for a day or two. You can feel more spiritual now, connected with the metaphysical. Your dreams can seem more important, and there may be messages for you within them. Creativity can be heightened, so this can be a good period for those in artistic fields. Don't let yourself become overly emotional at this time, or you could feel more down than usual: depressed, lonely, guilty, worthless, or directionless. For a positive way to deal with this placement, you can look back at the Moon's tour through the previous houses, figure out what you did that was right and what was a mistake, and use that knowledge to make better decisions for the next round of the Moon through the twelve houses. We go through this cycle every month, so each time brings a new opportunity to right the things we did wrong the previous time and take more positive action to achieve our goals.

Transit Moon Aspects to Natal Planets

Transit Moon to Natal Sun

With the conjunction, you feel more at one with yourself. You stress out about things less, feeling internal peace that you exude externally. Something could occur, usually within yourself, which brings on a change, however subtle, and you can feel more self-assured and get more notice. This can be a good time to make a promise to yourself that you'll stick with. With a sextile or trine, you work well with others, able to present the best you possible. Your actions and your feelings are in sync. Intuition is good, and you can make better decisions, having more clarity. Things can go better at home and at work. You can settle your mind easily and heal (so it's good for doctor's visits or therapy). Expressing yourself comes without difficulty. With a square or opposition, you may experience more conflict, especially in your relationships. Work and home don't mesh well now. What you desire and what is actually essential likely won't be the same things, which can lead to problems and cause you to feel disjointed. You may react in an overly emotional way to situations. You can use the energy positively by trying to resolve issues. The opposition is generally harder than the square.

Transit Moon to Natal Moon

With the conjunction, you experience your lunar return, when the moon returns to the exact position it was in when you were born. Your emotions are high, and you're more sensitive and need to try and be positive. With a sextile or trine, your personal life gets a positive boost, going much more smoothly. You're able to connect with your emotions better and can feel good all around. Dealing with your close relationships and home life comes easily. Your instincts are keener, and you can either feel like staying home and lounging or taking the reins to make improvements. You likely won't desire new things however; what makes you comfortable and is known best to you is where you lean. With a square or opposition, your emotions are much stronger, and you can be moody and irritable. You can have difficulty solving problems, and it's not a good time to start anything new, so put a cork in whatever you can. You can feel like no one is there for you, and have extra stress dealing with work or your home life. Any little thing can trigger emotional distress, so try to just stay calm during the few hours of this transit.

Transit Moon to Natal Mercury

With the conjunction, your mind and emotions are tied together, and you can be open about your feelings with people. Communicating your thoughts and what's going on in your head and heart can be had now, and you may spend a lot of time in memories, going over what's come to pass. You can draw conclusions from them easily, and move on to the next quickly. You may have a difficult time concentrating on anything. It's a good time to give or get guidance. With a sextile or trine, you're more sociable, wanting to spend time communicating with others. You're more forthright, and people want to converse with you because you seem more affectionate. This can be a good time for business, especially if you need to work out agreements/contracts or compromises. With a square or opposition, you may have a difficult time communicating properly what you're feeling and thinking. You could be saying a lot but not in a way people understand, and you have difficulty understanding them as well. Mentally, you're lacking clarity and focus. You can have a hard time sticking with a decision, and have more quarrels now. Technology can give you trouble.

Transit Moon to Natal Venus

With the conjunction, you can feel quite pleasant, with an overall lovely shade coloring your attitude about life. It's a good time to spend with friends, at a party, or doing something to make you feel good. You could be overindulgent, so watch for that. You're more drawn to beauty and art. With the sextile or trine, you have a pleasing way with people that attract them to you. You may be in the mood for love, and this is a good time for a romantic dinner or date. You can make improvements to your home or to yourself, getting a manicure, pedicure, haircut, new outfit, new makeup, etc. Spending money can also come now, but watch for spending unwisely. Having fun at a party or event is favorable, and you let everybody know how good you feel. With the square or opposition, you're more vulnerable and easily upset, especially in social situations. You can have a lovers spat and problems at home. Doing something just for fun might not be in the cards right now, for one reason or another, and that may make you cranky. You can be overly sensitive and not want to collaborate with others.

Transit Moon to Natal Mars

With the conjunction, your emotions are charged and you crave action. You need to carefully balance taking positive risks that will open up new doorways with negative risks that can cause harm to your life and body. Passions intensify, and the need to do something physical can translate to being more aroused. If you remain inactive at this time, you'll likely be ill-tempered. With a sextile or trine, you're more confident and daring. Taking the initiative is good, and you can air your emotions now without worry or fear. You feel like you can do whatever you want and not need someone to hold your hand along the way. You're emotionally tuned to what your innate urges are and more passionate. You can be at one with who you are and your current situations. With a square or opposition, you can be impulsive in a rash way. You can make bad decisions because you're not taking the time to think things over, and caution isn't really a part of your vocabulary. Your temper can be short and you may go over the top with your reactions. Passion is also increased, but they may control you instead of the other way around. This transit could allow you to break free from something, giving you plenty of energy to make a big change.

Transit Moon to Natal Jupiter

With the conjunction, you're likely to have an optimistic and positive aura with everything you feel. Being bogged down by your emotions isn't likely now, and you may feel a reprieve from an emotional situation. Doing something that you enjoy is favorable. You get along better with others, and so people want to be around you. You could possibly have a little extra luck on your side, or at least feel like you do. With a sextile or trine, most matters go smoothly. Opportunities to broaden your life in some way can present themselves. This is a good time to try and have more business success. You can do something good for someone else, and you're morals are stronger now. You can feel less selfish and want to share your knowledge. With a square or opposition, you can either feel down about life and that things aren't going well, or take it to the other extreme and feel too unrealistically good about life. If you feel you've been wronged, you'll take it quite personally, and may have a hard time understanding the other side of the story. You can be overindulgent, and excessive. The opposition is generally easier to handle than the square, as long as you don't obligate yourself to anything serious.

Transit Moon to Natal Saturn

With a conjunction, you're in control of your feelings and not the other way around. You can make sound decisions with your mind rather than being led astray by your emotions. This is good for business matters that require you to keep a cooler head. You're more realistic about what you can attain, and you can get a lot of work done. Depending on what's going on at the time of the transit and how you lean normally, you can feel lonely or empowered. Most of what is handed to you, you can deal with. With a sextile or trine, you're also in good control of your emotions, and you feel okay with forgoing pleasure for the moment to work. Your mind is clear and people find you dependable, though they may also see you as isolated. Any responsibility you have to handle can be done with aplomb. Your self-discipline and self-control are higher. Whatever work you set out to accomplish now can have rewards later. With a square or opposition, you can feel bogged down with life. Pessimism is higher, and your duties may overwhelm you. There can be roadblocks and delays with what you're trying to accomplish. People may take you for granted, or you'll feel that way. You may feel like you're alone on an island, misunderstood, or restrained. Energy is low and you may feel like just locking yourself up for the duration of this transit.

Transit Moon to Natal Uranus

With the conjunction, you could do something completely unexpected, or something could happen to you to throw you. New things just happen out of the blue, and you're more spontaneous. You want to break out of the box, and resist any rules or constraints anyone may try to put on you. It's important to remain open with this transit, because anything can happen. With a sextile or trine, you don't want to deal with your daily schedule; you want to do something different and new. You could get unexpected positive information, and you can take more risks. You want to stand out and be an individual, even if only for the few hours this transit is felt. With a square or opposition, you could encounter unexpected changes that you're not happy with. If you can try to see the change as positive in some way, then it may not cause as much trouble as if you threw a fit. Other people may seem unreliable to you, or you to them. You may resist something simply for the sake of being rebellious. You could desire change but be unable to do anything about it, making you irritable and feeling trapped. You can also have technological problems.

Transit Moon to Natal Neptune

With the conjunction, your sense of perception can be altered with ease, and this can be positive or negative. Positively, your intuition can be stronger, you can be more in touch with your feelings, and feel overly positive about life. Negatively, you can be unrealistic, easily wounded, and unable to see through people, which can lead you to be misled. Don't make any concrete plans right now. With a sextile or trine, your heart is bigger and you feel quite sympathetic and empathetic. Anything artistic can take hold of you. You may reminisce about the past. Your imagination reins supreme, so give yourself a mini vacation. You can also be more vulnerable, so be careful not to open up too much. With a square or opposition, you can long for something from the past, getting caught up in it. Your mind isn't clear, and making decisions is highly difficult. Depending on what's happening at the time and how you are normally, this can be an emotionally stressful time. Deception is always an option with Neptune, by you or by others, so don't give in to illusions. You may feel like running away from it all. Don't make any long-term decisions or deal with your career or money now. Try to use the time by just letting yourself assess and relax.

Transit Moon to Natal Pluto

With the conjunction, your emotions are more intense. Whatever you feel, you feel strongly. There's no middle ground here. It's a good time to make a transformation of something. Watch for issues related to power and control. With a sextile or trine, you can seem more powerful, having more sway over people. You're in quiet control of your emotions, and use them to your benefit. You're better with money and business, and can be more creative. Sexuality is heightened. You may look at what's around you and pick something that's in need of improvement and make it better. With a square or opposition, you may struggle with your emotions and have an internal tug-of-war. You can have problems with control externally as well, and deal with someone who wants to control you, or be overly controlling yourself. Something that happened before could bring up problems now. You'll likely experience confrontations. An ending can come with this transit, and you may have trouble letting go, but it's probably for the best.

Transit Aspects to the Natal Moon

Transit Sun to Natal Moon

With transit Sun conjunct your natal Moon, you feel at one with your emotions, which can make you feel more self-assured with yourself and your direction. Your home is especially good for you now, making you feel more in sync. You're enthusiastic about life, and it's a good time to start something new that can be worked on over the next few weeks.

With transit Sun sextile or trine your natal Moon, new prospects may be presented to you that you can deal with well. You can hone your energy on whatever it is you need to get done. Physically, you have more strength, stamina, and feel healthier. You can increase the quality of your relationships with this aspect.

With transit Sun square or opposition your natal Moon, you can be impulsive, doing things without thinking. You may work hard without seeing results, making you frustrated. Trying something new isn't favorable during these few days. You may not be clear about your feelings, and this can bring problems or start a fight in a relationship. Physically, you're not up to par, and can feel weaker, sick, or tired. Stress can increase. You can try to deal with this energy by recognizing your emotions and not letting them override logic.

Transit Mercury to Natal Moon

With transit Mercury conjunct your natal Moon, you can put your emotions into words much easier. Communicating them to others can be desired now, but it could also be just dealing with them yourself. No matter what, you're more conscious of what you're feeling, so this can be a good time to figure out what you want/need. You could have an important conversation with a female or about one. Communications will likely get a bump now.

With transit Mercury sextile or trine your natal Moon, expressing yourself comes easily, and you'll have a steady flow of communications. You can assess what it is you want and verbalize it.

With transit Mercury square or opposite your natal Moon, everything you read or hear may not be to your liking. You have a hard time getting your feelings out in the open, or aren't completely aware of what you're feeling. Your mind is clouded, making it difficult to work. You can be easily hurt by words. This time can be a little like a personal Mercury retrograde where everything gets thrown out of whack, so just try to relax.

Transit Venus to Natal Moon

With transit Venus conjunct your natal Moon, you're likely to be in a very pleasant, amorous mood. You can handle everything in stride, not taking life too seriously. Your emotions are soft and this is excellent for romance. It's also a good time to buy something for the home, a family member, or something that makes you feel good. You feel better, look better, and treat people better.

With transit Venus sextile or trine your natal Moon, you can enjoy life and all the loveliness within it. You're warm and affectionate, especially with loved ones. You want everyone to get along and have the ability to make that happen. You can be there for someone if they need you. This isn't really a time to get work done, because you just want to take pleasure in things.

With transit Venus square or opposite your natal Moon, you can still feel good if you don't let yourself become overly emotional. You can hurt easier in relationships, and get into fights at home. Overindulgence is likely now, but it's usually not enough to do any damage since this aspect is short. Try to pamper yourself and don't take anything too much to heart.

Transit Mars to Natal Moon

With transit Mars conjunct your natal Moon, super high energy is the name of the game. You're going to need some action or you're going to be cranky. With Mars, there's always the chance of injury, so watch your step. Make sure you have something to do. Try not to be too impulsive.

With transit Mars sextile or trine your natal Moon, your energy is still high, but you're in better control of it and less apt to be irritable. Your emotions are strong, but you can channel the energy into something productive. Whatever you do now, you'll do with gusto.

With transit Mars square or opposite your natal Moon, your emotions may be in the extreme, especially when it comes to anger. Watch for fighting and confrontations, especially needless ones. Your hot head may get you in trouble, especially if you have a temper normally. Again, try to find a physical outlet for your frustrations (maybe time for a kickboxing class?).

Transit Jupiter to Natal Moon

With transit Jupiter conjunct your natal Moon, expansion is the name of the game. Your moods raise and you feel optimistic about everything in life. Just be careful not to overdo it. You want to make happy changes to your home, and you may redecorate to make it reflect your upbeat mood or renovate to expand and make it larger. You can knock down walls and go for that open-concept feel, or move into a larger home. Strengthening your inner foundation is favorable, and you may want to make your relationships with loved ones, especially family, better.

With transit Jupiter sextile or trine your natal Moon, you can usually be optimistic without being delusional about it. You find life to be more pleasurable, and try to have more fun. People see you as open and sociable, making them drawn to you. You may feel a lot better about yourself, even if you don't quite realize it consciously, but it can permeate in everything you do.

With transit Jupiter square or opposite your natal Moon, you're prone to overindulgence, and this is a time when many gain weight (this is also possible with the conjunction, though you may have a better chance of controlling it, and you can turn it around and instead use the energy to lose weight). You may feel like your life isn't good enough or isn't what you want it to be, and overdo it with things to compensate. Difficult Jupiter aspects are usually not too hard to turn around and make positive if you're willing, which is usually the rub since the square/opposition likes to make you lazy, and unlikely to try.

Transit Saturn to Natal Moon

With transit Saturn conjunct your natal Moon, you need to evaluate your life and whether or not your emotional needs are being met. If you feel alone and without help, this transit can make that apparent to you, and you must try to remedy the problem. Looking within can be helpful, though it may also be unsettling if you let it be. Confront your issues and try to resolve them. You could feel like you have a lot more responsibility, and some may try to avoid it, but that's not the right thing to do. This time can be difficult emotionally if you don't try to use it positively and just run. If you deal with the energy, you can develop greater strength and awareness of reality.

With transit Saturn sextile or trine your natal Moon, you're not as emotionally in conflict with what must get done. You can handle your responsibilities well, and deal with whatever comes at you. Your emotions are less likely to rule over logic, making this a good time for decision-making. You can feel more like a real mature adult.

With transit Saturn square or opposite your natal Moon, your emotions are likely to be on the downside, and chances are, you'll be more pessimistic than usual. Watch for depression, especially if you're prone to going that route anyway. You may emotionally react to situations in a way that isn't worth it, making them worse in your head than they really are. Loneliness can set in, and problems with the home, mother, and women are likely. It's hard for you to deal with life right now, and you're definitely not up for trying new things or doing anything risky. This transit brings extreme caution and insecurity. Just let things go at their own pace and try not to speed everything up or let yourself get too down. Allow yourself to recharge and assess what's important to you, and if a change in your routine is needed, implement it with care.

Transit Uranus to Natal Moon

With transit Uranus conjunct your natal Moon, change is coming. What kind of change usually depends on you. Your emotional state can undergo a transformation linked to what's happening to you in your life. Wanting to break free and be different, you could do things that don't quite seem like you. It probably is you, just a you that hasn't been accessed in a long time (or ever). You could feel like you're on the verge of something new and exciting all the time, and have a strong desire for it. If you feel things aren't changing, then you may think your life is too stagnant and boring, and this can make you irritable and impatient, snapping quickly, and your emotions can swing erratically all over the place. If you've been looking to get out from underneath whatever's bogging you down, this can be the transit that lets you. This transit can also open up restricted outlooks.

With transit Uranus sextile or trine your natal Moon, you can employ changes that aren't so distressful and in a way that's positive and easy. You want to be around people and situations that enliven you and anyone or anything you find boring might get the boot. Just be careful not to cut ties with someone or something just because you want more excitement, because you may wish you hadn't when the transit's over and you're back to wanting more practicality. You strive to express yourself freely and be as independent as possible. Your home and family may undergo change, and you can suddenly decide to make an improvement to your residence. It's a great time to spend with other people, participating in a group or having fun at a party. Women can also be particularly beneficial, and one could help you unexpectedly.

With transit Uranus square or opposition your natal Moon, your feelings burst out of you at record speed, and no matter how much you want to hold it in, you'll have a hard time doing so. You're more prone to exploding at a moment's notice almost to the point of hysterics. Women can bring all kinds of problems for you, especially in love relationships. Your desire for change can be almost irrational, and you may seem like a rebellious teenager (which isn't great if you're not a teenager!). The desire can almost engulf you, and you're prone to causing upheaval in your life without thinking straight. Try to wrangle the energy and be cautious with the changes you make.

Transit Neptune to Natal Moon

With transit Neptune conjunct your natal Moon, you must be careful of whom you associate and spend time with. Neptune is a chameleon, and when it's conjunct your Moon, you mirror the people that are in your life. Chances are, if you're behaving badly, you need to make some new friends. Surrounding yourself with stable, positive people will help make this transit smoother. You're very sensitive to people's emotions and to your environment, picking up subtle energy shifts. This can be good in that it makes you more caring, empathetic, and intuitive, but it also makes you vulnerable, so take care of yourself. Women can have extra influence on you, and you may have to deal with your mother somehow.

Strange illnesses that have a hard time being diagnosed can come about now.

With transit Neptune sextile or trine your natal Moon, you will still be more sensitive, but better able to control your emotions and prevent others from crossing emotional boundaries. Your imagination is highly active, and your dreams are sweet and help ease your mind. Intuition is higher, and this helps in all facets of life because you can trust your gut. This is an extremely good aspect for anyone in a creative field, because you can channel all the energy into making your work better. You can be more open to the metaphysical, and healing work is good.

With transit Neptune square or opposite your natal Moon, your intuition can easily lead you down the wrong path. With Neptune, it can be difficult to see the reality of situations and not the illusions Neptune likes, which can make any decisions difficult and make it harder for you to figure out which way you're going. Your conscious and subconscious mind can blend together, causing you to have a hard time understanding the line between what's real and what's in your head. You're energetically open, so you soak up other people's moods – and problems. This can make it even more difficult on you, as you feel other people's problems as if they're your own, which in turn makes it difficult to sort through your own issues. There can be a tendency to want to escape, so if you go down that path, be careful of what you're running with and to. If you can deal with the energy, you can be incredibly compassionate and tap into mystical energies with ease. Don't withdraw into yourself too much, and try to remain as grounded as you can, keeping stable people around you and a stable routine to keep your healthy.

Transit Pluto to Natal Moon

With transit Pluto conjunct your natal Moon, it's a period of great change, to yourself and to your environment. Pluto is all about transformations, and when Pluto conjuncts your Moon, you make transformations that will enhance your emotional state. This may first require that you strip away everything that isn't working and start from scratch. Often the changes made are profound and, when looked back upon, turning points. It can be an intense period, and generally, whether it's positive or negative depends on other aspects and how you deal with things. If handled negatively, then this will be a time of upheaval, stress, and irrationality. If handled well, then you can make changes to your life you never dreamed of.

With transit Pluto sextile or trine your natal Moon, you have a strong yearning for change, but it's not overwhelming or stressful. You can develop an understanding of your emotional makeup and expand your relationships, growing closer to loved ones. They become more encouraging of you, and allow you to grow more as a person. This is usually a good time to extensively renovate your home.

With transit Pluto square or opposite your natal Moon, you're usually in for a rough ride. I experienced the square as a teenager, and pretty much lost my marbles (of course, I also had my progressed moon moving through Scorpio, and Pluto had recently entered my Second House, a time of unstable security if your life is already on shaky ground). The likelihood of experiencing problems like depression or anxiety is much higher, as your emotions take hold of you and can spiral out of control. Subconscious issues are brought to the surface, and you're often forced to confront deep-seated emotional and psychological problems that you just want nothing to do with. If you resist, that only makes it worse. This is one of the most difficult aspects to handle, and can show a darker side to yourself than you imagined you had. Your emotions are extreme and varying, and you're vulnerable to the max. If you tend to escapism, then you'll likely go that route, and lose yourself in something self-destructive. If you're lucky, this aspect will hit at a time when you've worked through any emotional/psychological problems, have built a stable, secure life, and are an overall happy person, because then you'll likely escape the worst, and you can try to use the energy positively. But Pluto is a sneaky bloodsucker who usually picks his prey well, so search out the name of a good therapist ahead of time.

Extra: The 5th House

This and the previous extra sections are interpretations taken from the site:

Transit Planets in the 5th House

Transit Sun in the 5th House

With transit Sun in your 5th house, your focus is on fun. You don't want to sit around, work, or deal with serious issues. Engage in your favorite hobbies, go out with friends, attend parties, and go on dates. You're a little more daring and a lot more enthusiastic about life. You seem more friendly and outgoing, and you come across as warm and funny. You want attention, and you can get it. You may be a little more dramatic and theatrical with your behavior, but you're just living life to the fullest right now, experiencing and enjoying as much as you can, and you want everyone to get in on it with you so you have company.

Transit Moon in the 5th House

Being social makes you feel good, and you feel more connected with others when engaging in creative pursuits or just playing around, having fun. Spending time out of the house, doing something fun is usually wanted with the Moon in the Fifth House. Whatever you find that's fun and gives you a reprieve from stress is what you want to do most. This should be a fun time of the month for all if handled well. You're more creative, in tune with your emotions and channeling them through creative outlets. You may be in the mood for love and romance, and want to spend time being romantic with someone special. Your children may be more emotional, or may make you more emotional, or you could have a stronger desire for children or to spend time with children. Laziness can set in with this transit in regards to your daily responsibilities, choosing to just play rather than work. That's fine if it's the weekend. Playing hooky isn't always good when you're grown up. You could also overindulge in things not-so-good for you, so watch yourself a little bit. There can be a greater chance of getting approval from others to secure your sense of self.

Transit Mercury in the 5th House

With transit Mercury in your 5th house, you're much more creative than usual. You can do excellent work on creative projects, but have a hard time focusing on real work. You just want to play. You're more sociable and friendly, have a good sense of humor, and have a plan for a good time. If single, you could meet someone through the internet, a neighbor, a sibling, or in your community, and they could be younger than you or have a youthful personality. If you have children, this is a good time to sit down and talk with them about their thoughts and feelings. You could pick up a new hobby, or set aside time for one you haven't had time for lately.

Transit Venus in the 5th House

When transit Venus is in your 5th house, the 5th house is the house of love, so this is a great time to begin dating a new special someone, and you won't want it to be boring and blah. You feel more romantic, but in a playful way, and want some more drama in your love life (drama like you see on television and in movies; you want to recreate those incredibly romantic scenes). Attracting new loves is easier during this transit, and you'll be the one getting chased rather than doing the chasing. You could meet someone through a hobby or who works in a creative field. You feel more creative and artistic, and can find inspiration more easily. Dealing with your children may be easier, as well as getting in touch with your inner child.

Transit Mars in the 5th House

When transit Mars is in your 5th house, you're driven to express yourself. Your creativity surges, and you can take a creative approach to matters and projects. This is a good time to pursue a creative endeavor. You have more energy for fun instead of work, and have a hard time focusing on your duties and responsibilities. Try to take as much time off as you can or give yourself plenty of spare time to do whatever pleases you. Your inner child can come out a little, and you can pick up a new hobby. This is also a good time for love and romance, and you have more energy for both of those things. You're more flirty, and if single, could have the chance to date many people or meet new suitors. If attached, you can reignite the flame and inject more passion into the relationship.

Transit Jupiter in the 5th House

When transit Jupiter is in your 5th house, you just want to have a good time, and good times should be had. You can enjoy yourself and do the things that you love most. You can spend more time on your hobbies, and take up new ones. If you're creative, you can see your creativity soar, and this is an excellent aspect for artistic types. You can be inspired to create your best work yet. You may be prone to gambling, and some risks may go well, but don't push your luck. You want to express yourself in some way, and let the world see you. You can be more sociable and if single, meet new romantic partners. You could fall in love during this transit, but if there aren't any other grounding influences (like Saturn making some aspects), it's most likely you'll just date a lot. If attached, you could bring some romance back into the relationship. This can also be a good period to have a child/get pregnant, and if you have children, it can be a good period for them.

Transit Saturn in the 5th House

When transit Saturn is in your 5th house, your sense of fun may be drained temporarily. You don't feel up for parties, socializing, romance, your hobbies, or anything that can be construed as fun for you. You're more serious, and carefully consider what gives you joy in life and why. You have to look at what your own talents are and be honest with yourself about them. Don't deny what you're good at and let it waste away. For creative types, you may feel uninspired as this transit begins, going through a creative block, and have to find inspiration within yourself. In romance, you may feel like you have less love in your life, and have to learn to feel worthy of love because you're a good person and not because of what other people think of you. Self-love is something that you may need to cultivate.

Transit Uranus in the 5th House

When transit Uranus is in your 5th house, you can begin taking up new hobbies that are unusual, unconventional, and out of your usual comfort zone. You can express yourself creatively and want to find a different mode of expression. If you have children, they could become more erratic or experience changes themselves, and your relationship with them can change. In love, you can be attracted to unusual people, people who are different from what you'd normally go for, and have relationships that are different. You can fall madly in love in an instant, and fall out of it just as fast.

Transit Neptune in the 5th House

When transit Neptune is in your 5th house, you love romance and dating, but you may not see your romantic interests for who they really are, viewing them with rose-colored glasses. You can have a hard time falling in love with the right people, people who deserve it and won't take advantage of you. You want to save those you love, and will sacrifice yourself to do so. You're highly creative, and new hobbies can be creative or in the arts.

Transit Pluto in the 5th House

When transit Pluto is in your 5th house, you take love much more seriously, and can almost become obsessed when you think you're in love. You're more passionate and intense, and can take that too far if you let it. You can transform your love relationships, or be transformed through them. You can become more connected to your hobbies, and want to pursue what you enjoy more than anything else, but you may have a hard time letting loose when you have the chance.
