Introduction

With all of the focus on the angles in astrology, this guide is going to focus on the other house pairs. There are 12 houses in astrology, and every house has an opposite house, so every house is on an axis with another opposing house. You know the angles (Ascendant/1st house & Descendant/7th house, Umum Coeli/4th house & midheaven/10th house), so we'll explore the other pairs of houses now. The others are:

2nd and 8th Houses: These houses are the money houses and the axis of money. The 2nd house is your own money while the 8th house is "other people's money" (money impacting other people - think joint finances, loans, debts, inheritances, etc.). These houses also rule resources, with the 2nd house ruling your personal resources and the 8th house ruling your shared resources. The 2nd house rules your values; the 8th house rules your passions.

3rd and 9th Houses: These are the communication houses and the axis of communication. The 3rd house rules your everyday interactions, your personal engagements, your lower/grade school/elementary learning, while the 9th house rules higher education, and engaging on a broader stage (speeches, advertising, marketing). These are also the travel houses, with the 3rd house being everyday/short travel and the 9th house being far travel.

5th and 11th Houses: These are the houses of engagement, and the 5th house rules your personal love relationships (romance, dating, but also your children), and is heart-centric, while the 11th house rules your casual acquaintances, friendships, and groups you belong to, and is more distant. The 5th house is friendly; the 11th house is open. The 5th house is generosity; the 11th house is charity. The 5th house creates; the 11th house innovates.

6th and 12th Houses: These are the houses of service, and the 6th house rules your daily service (your job, everyday tasks, chores, and projects), while the 12th house rules your sacrificial service (and compassion and empathy). The 6th house is more practical service while the 12th house is more emotional and spiritual service. The 6th house is the physical daily world while the 12th house is imagination and the beyond.

Lesson 1: The Planets & Other Houses Pairs in Your Natal Chart

When you have planets in one house but not the other, you may gravitate more toward that house. With the 2nd and 8th houses, if you have planets in the 2nd and not the 8th, you may focus more on the world around you, your own values, and your own resources. If you may be personally resourceful, or at least strive to be. Planets in the 8th and not the 2nd might bring more help from others, even benefit from others. You may think more about how to evolve beyond what's around you.

With the 3rd and 9th houses, if you have planets in the 3rd and not the 9th, you may focus more on your everyday life. You may feel connected to your neighborhood or community, and to your own words, your own thoughts, your own knowledge. Planets in the 9th and not the 3rd might make you more interested in the world beyond your community, and you may focus on knowledge you have yet to learn.

With the 5th and 11th houses, if you have planets in the 5th and not the 11th, you may focus on what makes you feel good, everyday joys, and want more personal connections with others. You can be very personable. Planets in the 11th and not the 5th might make you open to all in a broad sense, and focused on the future, not just the present. You may be more open to change and to being an individual instead of trying to fit in.

With the 6th and 12th houses, if you have planets in the 6th and not the 12th, you may focus on what you have to do on a daily basis. You may prefer smaller projects and goals, and work methodically and in a detailed way. Planets in the 12th and not the 6th might make you more imaginative and creative with how you get things done. You may be less scheduled and more flexible.

When it comes to aspects to your 2nd/8th, 3rd/9th, 5th/11th, and 6th/12th house cusps, this is dependent on which house system you use. There are many different methods for calculating the positions of house cusps, and the location of these house cusps can be different with each system (the angles are the same). One way you can figure out which house system you prefer is by seeing which has a natal planet aspecting one of these house cusps, and if that resonates with you, that house system may be your preference. FYI: The default house system on astro.com is Placidus (most commonly used system in the West).

Aspects to the other house cusps should have a smaller orb (I largely stick to under 4 degrees). Planets conjunct any of the house cusps will be super important to the matters that house rules, but they can also detract from the opposing house. Planets that are sextile/trine a house axis are beneficial to both, and help with balancing their energy. That planet plays nice! Planets that are square a house axis can be blocks to balancing the energy, present challenges, and generally need to be worked on for whatever the axis rules.

The Sun is your true self, the one that comes out when you're comfortable and with those you know well. A lot of focus is given to the sign, but the house location of the natal Sun is also important for what you give attention to and as a part of your personality. When the Sun is sextile/trine a house axis, it brings a certain degree of comfort with that axis, and you can shed light on those areas with greater ease. When the Sun is square an axis, this can bring a degree of discomfort and more of a personal challenge in dealing with what that axis rules.

The Moon is your emotional self, what you need for stability and security, and how you react emotionally in situations, so its house location is also important. The areas of life ruled by that house are crucial for your emotional stability and security. When the Moon is sextile/trine a house axis, it can make it easier for you to manage whatever that axis rules emotionally, and not get too out of sync. When the Moon is square an axis, this can make for emotional difficulties and discomfort with that axis, and your emotions may get in the way sometimes.

Mercury is your mind, communication, and how you connect with the world around you, so its house location can impact where you express yourself and where your mental focus often is. When Mercury is sextile/trine a house axis, this can make it easier for you to come up with ideas, share your thoughts, and openly communicate with whatever that house rules. When Mercury is square an axis, you may struggle with open expression or with getting your mind on whatever the axis rules, easily scattered or anxious, and may need some grounding.

Venus is your relationships, so its house location can impact the relationships you have and where you take pleasure in things. The areas of life ruled by the house Venus is located can be areas you enjoy focusing on, and areas where you may connect with others. When Venus is sextile/trine a house axis, this can make it easier for you to work with others and get help with whatever that axis rules, and you can have a degree of ease with the house matters. When Venus is square an axis, there can be challenges when dealing with others or with getting help with whatever the axis rules, and there can be a degree of laziness, stubbornness, and intractability.

Mars is your energy and drive, so its house location can show where you direct your energy most, and where you're driven most to take action. The areas of life ruled by the house Mars is located can be areas where you're extra driven to do something. When Mars is sextile/trine a house axis, this can make it easier for you to take action with whatever that axis rules. You can be more comfortable with taking initiative when needed. When Mars is square an axis, action may go to the extreme, and you may lack initiative and drive with the areas of life that axis rules, or you may go a bit overboard, and find you're easily frustrated and agitated.

Jupiter is the expansive planet, so its house location can show areas of your life where you need to expand, explore, and have new experiences. You can be open to opportunities in these areas of life, and there can be some luck on your side. When Jupiter is sextile/trine a house axis, this can make it easier for you to expand in the areas of life ruled by the axis. You can be more optimistic and open, and have greater ease in general. When Jupiter is square a house axis, you may have a hard time seeing all of the opportunities you want, there can be a degree of laziness or being lackadaisical, or you may talk a big game but not back it up with action.

Saturn is the teacher, the one who has lessons for us and can be hard on us when we don't learn, and is restrictive energy. Its house location can show areas of life where you have the biggest lessons to learn, and can feel challenged and restricted until you learn them. When Saturn is sextile/trine a house axis, this is less troublesome and easier to manage, and you may have greater discipline and responsibility with whatever that axis rules. There's opportunity to build something important over time. When Saturn is square a house axis, this can make Saturn harder on those areas of life, and you may feel extra restricted all of the time. The lessons may be harder but more important to learn.

Uranus is the planet of change, the mover and shaker, and its house location can show areas of life where you need to shake things up all of the time, experience lots of change throughout your life, and want things to be a bit different. When Uranus is sextile/trine a house axis, this can help you make changes with whatever that axis rules, and you can be open to doing things differently without completely ignoring the old ways that still work well. When Uranus is square a house axis, there can be trouble with change and what's different with whatever that axis rules. You may avoid change at all costs, terrified of it, or you may want way too much change and act impulsively and impatiently.

Neptune is the spiritual planet, ruling imagination and intuition, but is also the foggy planet, making it difficult to see things as they are. Its house location shows areas of life where you can be more spiritual and intuitive and creative, but you may also have a hard time seeing things clearly and have to find some grounding. When Neptune is sextile/trine a house axis, you get more of the good, and you can trust your instincts, use creative energy, and generally have an easier time with whatever that axis rules. When Neptune is square an axis, the fog gets amplified, and it's much harder to see things realistically with whatever that axis rules.

Pluto is the planet of transformation, and rules power and control, so its house location can show areas of life where you need to undergo a major transformation, take control, and find personal power, but you may fight over power and control with others. When Pluto is sextile/trine a house axis, this makes it much easier for you to find your own person, be comfortable with your power, and take control with whatever that axis rules. When Pluto is square an axis, that can bring out a lot more power struggles and control issues. You may resist transformation for a while, shoving things away, but it ends up being more important.

Chiron is your wounds, sensitivity, and how you can heal, grow, and mature, so its house location can show areas of life where you may be more easily wounded or where your greatest wounds are, but also where you can heal the most. When Chiron is sextile/trine a house axis, you can be gentle with whatever the axis rules but not so sensitive that you're easily hurt, understanding how to protect yourself in a healthy way. Your intuition can be strong, and you can be more mature about the house axis matters. When Chiron is square an axis, you can be much more sensitive with whatever the axis rules. There may be some deep hurts that have to be worked on, and you may struggle with insecurity and self-doubt.

Lesson 2: Transits & the Other House Pairs

Just as you can track transit aspects by the transit planets to your natal angles, you can also look at transit aspects to the other house cusps. The Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, and Mars move quickly, so aspects by them will only last a few hours (the Moon) to a few days. Conjunctions mean they move into a house and bring their energy to that house. Sextiles/trines to a house axis mean they bring beneficial energy for the house axis they're aspecting, and there can be positive developments or easier energy to manage. Squares to a house axis mean they can bring challenging energy for the house axis they're aspecting, and there may be an imbalance, block, or problem to deal with. The Sun shines a light on matters; the Moon brings out emotions; Mercury brings mental focus and ideas/communication; Venus brings others into the mix and tries to make things easier or gets lazy; and Mars is high energy, for good or bad.

Transit Jupiter is expansive, so when conjunct a house cusp, it's moving into that house and bringing its expansive energy. When transit Jupiter is sextile/trine a house axis, this can be helpful for new opportunities, new beginnings, and generally beneficial energy. When transit Jupiter is square a house axis, this can bring out laziness, excess, and potential issues to work through, though with Jupiter, they may not be that bad unless things are already bad.

Transit Saturn teaches, so when conjunct a house cusp, it's moving into that house and bringing some lessons if there are any to be learned, otherwise there may just be some responsibilities and discipline. When transit Saturn is sextile/trine a house axis, this can be handled more easily, and it can be a stable time for whatever the axis rules. When transit Saturn is square a house axis, this can bring more restrictions, more blocks, and it's more important to do the right thing.

Transit Uranus makes change, so when conjunct a house cusp, it's moving into the house and bringing change. When transit Uranus is sextile/trine a house axis, change can be an easier thing to have, and you can be more willing or a participant in the changes you experience ruled by the house axis. When transit Uranus is square a house axis, you may experience change that is difficult to handle, you don't really want at the moment, or you may be extra impatient and restless with whatever the axis rules.

Transit Neptune is spiritual but also foggy, so when conjunct a house cusp, it's moving into the house and helping with intuition and imagination, but also making it harder to see things clearly. When transit Neptune is sextile/trine a house axis, intuition can be strong, you can be helpful and get help as needed, and you can be creative but not out of touch with whatever the axis rules. When transit Neptune is square a house axis, it can be very difficult to see things as they are, and you can get taken advantage of easily and need better boundaries.

Transit Pluto is the transformer, so when conjunct a house cusp, it's moving into the house and triggering a time when you need to take more power and control, and transform for the better. When transit Pluto is sextile/trine a house axis, you can focus on finding personal power and taking control with whatever that axis rules in a healthy way, and you can feel more confident. When transit Pluto is square a house axis, there can be fighting over power and control, and you may need to transform somehow but have a hard time doing so, needing to push through difficulty and fear.

Transit Chiron is the healer, so when conjunct a house cusp, it's moving into the house and can start a period where you focus on healing and growing with whatever that house rules, and you may need to face some old hurts. When transit Chiron is sextile/trine a house axis, it can be easier for you to have a healthy approach with whatever the axis rules, you can heal old wounds related to it, and you can feel more centered and whole. When transit Chiron is square a house axis, sensitivity can be high, and you may be more easily wounded with whatever the axis rules. You may need to work on something from the past that is painful, but helps you move forward.

Lesson 3: Notes on the Other House Pairs in the Progressed, Return, and Composite Charts

In the progressed chart, your progressed house cusps move about 1 degree per year. It can be important when your progressed house cusps come to the anaretic degree and set off major energy for whatever that house axis rules, and you can push to do something quickly while you still have the chance. This may impact your finances, resources, legacy, or values with the 2nd-8th house axis; your communication, travel, or education with the 3rd-9th house axis; your creativity and relationships with the 5th-11th house axis; or your work, daily life, and spiritual self with the 6th-12th house axis.

After being anaretic, your progressed house cusps move into new signs, and this signals a shift in your focus for that house axis. There's a whole new focus for whatever that axis rules. It may not kick off immediately since there can be some period of adjustment, but usually within 2-3 years of a progressed house moving into a new sign, it's really changed your focus. How will depend on the signs that the house axis moves into.

As your progressed house cusps move, they will also make aspects to your natal and progressed planets. These can be interpreted similarly to if they were in the natal chart, but their effect isn't permanent.

In return charts, the other houses matter when they have planets in that house, but especially the return planet or a planet conjunct (aligned with) the house cusp. I find the biggest returns tend to occur when the return planet itself is conjunct a house cusp. When it's the other houses and not an angle, this can bring extra focus to the areas of life the house rules, but it might not be as in-your-face immediately as when it's an angle.

You can look at aspects the planets make to the return house cusps, and this can impact the return energy, but it will be strongest when it's the planet the return is for making the aspects. That tends to be a more direct impact.

In composite charts, remember that a composite chart is the chart for the relationship itself, so planets aspecting any of the house cusps in the composite chart have an impact on the relationship and the two of you together. The effect can be like in the natal chart, except it's only in effect when the two of you are together or when you're dealing with something in the relationship.

Appendix: The Other Houses in the Signs

These are the interpretations from the site:

The 2nd House in the Signs

2nd House in Aries

You may have a strong drive to make money, and can be assertive in the ways that you go about making money. Your confidence can be linked to how much money you have or make, and the more you make, the better you feel about yourself. You can be a spendthrift at times, blowing money on impulse buys and things you don't really need. You may have to work at being financially disciplined. You can make money through something Aries-related, like the military, as an entrepreneur, as the boss, through sports, or through competition.

2nd House in Taurus

You may want a lot of money so you can spend on things of value, that are worth much in your eyes, or that seem luxurious. You can have expensive taste, only wanting the finest things in life, but you tend to stick to spending the money you have rather than how much you wish you had. You can be good at business, and take a practical approach to your finances. Making money can come easily to you. You can make money through something Taurus-related, like using your senses (food, drink, art, music, physical therapy, massage, as an audiologist, optometrist, etc.) or through finance.

2nd House in Gemini

You can take an intellectual approach to your finances, and use your mind to help you financially. You can spend a lot of time thinking about your finances, and come up with plans and budgets that come and go. You can adapt to whatever financial situation you find yourself in. You can make money through something Gemini-related, like writing, speaking, detail-oriented work, planning, with younger people (like teaching), or using your mind in some way.

2nd House in Cancer

You can keep your money, save and invest wisely, and don't want to spend too much on anything except your home or family. You could spoil your family but be cheap with everything else. Having financial security means a lot to you, and you feel emotionally uneasy when your finances aren't in order. How much you make can ebb and flow, changing through your life constantly. You can make money through something Cancer-related, like through the public, nurturing others, in or for the home, or with or for family.

2nd House in Leo

You may need to make money in your life so you feel good about yourself. How you feel about yourself is likely closely linked to your financial life. You need to learn to separate those two things. You may want to live like a king, and only go for items that others might think are tacky or gaudy. You can make money through something Leo-related, like in the public eye (especially in acting/through the theater), through work that helps other people, or work that makes people laugh.

2nd House in Virgo

You may know exactly what you want to do with your money, and keep track of every penny. You can try to be practical with your finances, always having a sound plan, but you can deviate from it on a whim at times and get yourself in trouble. When your finances aren't in good shape, you tend to be in bad shape physically, and the financial worry leads to physical illness. You can make money through something Virgo-related, like using the details, something with your mind, as an organizer, bringing structure or creating routines, with health, or with animals.

2nd House in Libra

You can try to balance your budget and weigh the pros and cons of spending on certain items or investing in certain ways. If you feel like your financial life is out of balance, it really throws you off. You may make your money with the help of a partner, or through marriage. Your taste is expensive, but you don't usually spend more than you have, and try not to blow your money on anything too frivolous. You can make money through something Libra-related, like the arts, the law, the beauty industry, fashion, or the wedding industry.

2nd House in Scorpio

You can keep your financial life to yourself, not wanting other people to know everything you have or don't have. You can make a lot of money in your life, but it may not be an actual goal to do so. You can invest your money and see it pay off long-term, and do well with a business partner. You may need to transform your values and what you need to feel worth something at some point in your life. You can make money through something Scorpio-related, like science, secrets, helping people transform themselves or transforming items/property, or in finance.

2nd House in Sagittarius

You may have no problem giving your money away, having a generous attitude toward money, and you only want as much as you need to take care of the basics and to help other people. You likely don't have a problem trying something risky to make more money, and if it doesn't work out, you dust yourself off and try again. You can think long-term when it comes to your finances, and this helps you to improve your finances. You can make money through something Sagittarius-related, like travel, teaching, writing, speaking, expansion, or dealing with foreign cultures/people.

2nd House in Capricorn

You're likely not a frivolous person, careful with how you spend, invest, and deal with your money. You can exercise caution when making financial decisions. You may come across as a little cheap, and can feel like you have less than you actually do. You can get by on very little, and over time, build up your finances so you're more comfortable later on in life. You can make money through something Capricorn-related, like politics, as a boss or entrepreneur, working with people older than you or with your parents, as a planner, or a career counselor.

2nd House in Aquarius

You may not care very much about money emotionally, keeping your emotions separate from your financial life. Money may come and go for you in spurts, and you may find yourself in jobs where you don't have a stable income, like working on commission or in sales. You can come up with unique ways to make money, ways that no one else would think of, and can throw yourself into it on a whim. You can make money through something Aquarius-related, like technology, as an inventor, in science, helping people realize their dreams, or that focuses on the future.

2nd House in Pisces

You likely don't take your financial life very seriously, or at least not as seriously as you should. You can be lackadaisical with your finances, coming up with fantastical schemes to earn money that never pan out or you never follow through with, and you can have a hard time keeping tabs on your finances. A budget may seem foreign and incomprehensible. You can trust people too much with your finances, and need to be careful you don't get swindled out of everything you have. You can make money through something Pisces-related, like spirituality, the metaphysical, music, podiatry, or helping others.

The 3rd House in the Signs

3rd House in Aries

Your mind can move at a fast pace, and you come up with ideas quickly. You may feel the need to share your thoughts and opinions with others. You likely don't rely on anyone else to think for you, and can express yourself easily. You can be eager to learn new things, but you have trouble sticking with anything long enough to really learn it. You can be mentally aggressive, prone to arguments and defending your ideas, and short-tempered, so you need to make sure you have an outlet for the excess energy to prevent periodic explosions.

3rd House in Taurus

It can take a long time for you to learn something, and it might seem like you don't care about learning on the surface because of that. When you dedicate yourself to learning something, you'll likely stick with it until you've got it, no matter how long it takes, and you'll remember it for the rest of your life. Learning could be easier for you when you involve your senses, and you can take in knowledge using what you see, hear, smell, taste, and touch to help you. Playing soft music while studying or trying to absorb something new could help as well.

3rd House in Gemini

Gemini is the natural ruler of the 3rd house, so having Gemini here denotes you likely have a mind that is naturally quick and an ease in communication. You may require mental stimulation, love conversation with others, are a social person, and can take in facts easily. You can have an easy time dealing with the small details, but can struggle with the bigger picture and large projects. You're likely open to new ideas, and understand different modes of thought. While your mind moves quickly, it can be too quick at times, and when that happens, you can have a hard time communicating effectively.

3rd House in Cancer

Once you commit something to memory, it's likely you'll never forget it. You may have one of the longest memories out there, especially when it comes to anything that impacts you emotionally. You never forget the emotions you felt and that coursed through others in any given situation. While this makes you understanding, it can also make it hard for you to be objective. Learning may have been difficult for you as a child, and it makes you sensitive when it comes to learning as an adult. If you have siblings, they likely played an important role in your childhood.

3rd House in Leo

You can be theatrical when you express yourself, dominant in conversations, and someone who knows how to entertain. You may not know exactly what you're talking about, but you know how to make it so that no one cares if you do. Your mind can be creative, and you enjoy gossiping, joking around, and having a good laugh. You can be surprisingly stubborn when it comes to your thoughts, and need to learn to be more open to other people's opinions. Words can wound your pride, and when someone cuts you in this way, it runs deep and perhaps forever.

3rd House in Virgo

Communicating may have been especially difficult for you when you were young, not because of any problem with your mind, but because of insecurity and doubt about your thoughts and opinions. You felt like what you had to say just didn't matter as much as what other people said. You have a strong mind centered around logic and reason, and you need to learn to feed your mind. You're likely excellent with the details, practical, and able to dedicate yourself to any mental work required of you. You can be critical of other people's opinions, or of your siblings or neighbors.

3rd House in Libra

You're likely a pleasant communicator, someone who communicates with grace and style. You may be a creative or artistic person as a result. You can charm people with your words, talk people into compromising and finding middle ground no matter how much they resist, and you're not forceful or demanding. You may avoid conflict and arguments, wanting everyone to get along. Without mental balance and harmony, you feel off in life. You can get along well with siblings or neighbors, knowing just what to say to get them to calm down and work with you.

3rd House in Scorpio

You can believe strongly in what you think and say, your opinions and beliefs, and won't budge from your position. You can dominate other people, are intense in your communications, and overwhelm others. Words can help you transform in life, or you can use your words to help transform others. You're likely researching and won't stop digging into something until you've gotten to the core. When something interests you, you can become obsessed with it. You can be too judgmental, and may feel that people should do whatever you tell them to.

3rd House in Sagittarius

You tend to be an optimistic person, looking at the brighter side of situations, and don't want to get too down about anything. You can keep communications light and fun, wanting to laugh and have a good time. You're likely interested in learning about the world, worldly issues, and look at the big picture, but the details can escape you. You love to learn, but can do better learning on your own. You may want to expand your mind whenever you get the chance, and enjoy exposing yourself to new cultures and ways of living. When you talk, you do so in a big way, and are an excellent storyteller. You're also likely quite honest.

3rd House in Capricorn

You may not like to express your thoughts or opinions with others until you've carefully reviewed what you're going to say, and believe that it needs to be said. You can try to only say what needs to be said, and don't waste your time on anything else. If you don't have something productive say, you won't say anything at all. You may seem quiet or secretive as a result. Learning or getting an education may have been difficult when young for some reason, and as you get older, you take studying seriously, and can use it to help you achieve your goals.

3rd House in Aquarius

You may love to learn, and you don't need to learn to gain anything except knowledge. You may want to share your knowledge with other people, and can be a great teacher. You're open to new modes of thoughts, new ways to express yourself, original ideas, and are forward-thinking. You may not have patience for anyone who isn't the same way as you though, and need to not be so critical of people who aren't as open or unique. You can speak before you take the time to say anything, and this can put you in situations you don't want to be in.

3rd House in Pisces

Over time, you can merge your emotions and your mind together to create a powerful force. Until then, you can have a hard time communicating clearly or understanding the details. Your emotions can cloud your judgment, and they prevent you from being able to communicate. This is usually a problem in your youth. As you evolve, you become more creative, intuitive in your communications, and can see through what people say to what they really mean. You come up with your best ideas on your own, and require a certain amount of time alone to recharge your mind.

The 5th House in the Signs

5th House in Aries

You may need lots of physical activity in your free time, and prefer hobbies that keep you physically active. You can enjoy your hobbies immensely, and need plenty of time to dedicate to them. You may prefer hobbies that you can pursue alone, without the help of anyone. In love, you like to take charge. You can be short-tempered with children, lacking patience, and your own children can be high energy and willful.

5th House in Taurus

You may have an appreciation for beauty, and prefer hobbies that stimulate your senses. Free time for you can consist of just lounging around and being lazy. In love, you may require lots of affection, and want someone to dote on you. You can spoil your children, give them lots of material items, but have a hard time dealing with them if they turn out to be very different from you.

5th House in Gemini

You may prefer intellectual hobbies, ones where you can utilize your mind, especially in creative ways. In love, you like variety, and can date around before you decide to settle down with anyone. You may need love to be fun, light, and carefree. You can bring out the intellectual potential in your children, and they can have sharp, active minds, need variety, and have many interests.

5th House in Cancer

You're likely not one for light-hearted affairs, and prefer hobbies that are comfortable, comforting, or domestic, like cooking or knitting. You can have a secret creative side to you though, and can find it easier to express yourself through creative ventures. In love, you're likely quite emotional, and need to learn how to manage that before you have a healthy relationship. You're protective of your children, and nurture and support them.

5th House in Leo

You may need hobbies that allow you to express yourself, especially in creative ways. You can closely identify with your hobbies and your creative side. In love, you can be dramatic and affectionate, and need constant attention from your partner. You're likely romantic and want love to be like in the movies. You adore your children, and encourage them to be the best that they can be.

5th House in Virgo

You likely don't do things on a whim, and prefer quiet hobbies and activities. You can do a lot of planning before you let yourself have any fun, and prefer hobbies that use up some of your mental energy. In love, you're likely picky, and don't want to settle for anything less than your perfect mate. You can take a logical, analytical approach to dating. You can be too critical of your children, and need to be more understanding.

5th House in Libra

You may prefer hobbies where you can do things with other people. You may be creative, but you need other people to tell you that you're talented in order for you to think that about yourself. You can try to strike a balance between work and play. In love, you need someone who is charming and polite, but you can have a hard time choosing someone. You're fair with your children, and try to understand them as well as you can.

5th House in Scorpio

You're likely interested in getting to the heart of subjects and people, and prefer hobbies where you can do research and figure out mysteries. Science can be of interest. Whatever your hobbies are, you can get obsessed with them at times. In love, too often you want to change your partner, and are overly emotional or possessive. You may need a cooler head. You're protective of your children, but can have a hard time letting them go.

5th House in Sagittarius

You likely love fun, and need to have time in your life for your hobbies and to do whatever you want. You're someone that everyone wants to spend free time with because it's going to be a grand adventure. In love, you don't take it too seriously and can be hard to pin down. You may want to roam free for a while. You treat your children with respect and understanding, but can spoil them at times.

5th House in Capricorn

You can view your free time as simply more time for you to get work done. You don't let yourself have fun as much as you should. Letting loose is likely difficult for you when young. Your creative side may not come out until you're older. In love, you're practical and take your time, not wanting to rush into anything and knowing you don't need to. You're strict with your children, but you can also teach them a lot.

5th House in Aquarius

Your hobbies tend to be unusual in some way, and you do things that are radically different from everyone else. You can be up for experimentation, and willing to try almost anything once. In love, you may like to keep it casual for a while, preferring friendship first, and aren't much of a conventional romantic. You let your children be independent and original, and they may be rebels.

5th House in Pisces

You may need hobbies that allow you to fully express your creativity, but it can be difficult for you to figure out what you should do. You may need to remove any blocks and let yourself go. In love, you can have a hard time figuring out what you want, and be attracted to people who need to be saved or who will save you. You're likely willing to do whatever it takes for your children, but you can sacrifice too much.

The 6th House in the Signs

6th House in Aries

You can throw yourself into your work, and are hard-working and dedicated. You're likely driven to work in life, and try to do the absolute best you can. You can have a hard time with coworkers because you expect them to work as hard as you do. You need physical exercise to stay healthy. You may need to work for yourself with Aries here, or do work where you're mostly on your own. You can work in the military or in sports.

6th House in Taurus

You may focus on your work goals and work at them slowly but surely. Everyone else might think you take too long, but you get there eventually, and you do a good job. If you're not happy with your work, you can be lazy and come up with excuses. You can be prone to problems with your throat or weight. You can work as a teacher with Taurus here, or do work that engages your senses. You can also work in finance.

6th House in Gemini

You may need work that keeps you interested because you get bored quickly, so you may go from one job to the next quickly. It could be good for you to do work that requires you to use your mind in some way. Your nerves can impact your health, and you need to work on calming yourself. You may work two jobs throughout your life with Gemini here, steadily or for periods of time. You can work as a writer, speaker, or with young people.

6th House in Cancer

You likely work well when you're helping other people, and can be emotional with your work. You may care more about your work than any other area of your life. If you don't have stable work, it has a physical impact on you. Watch for stomach or breast issues. You're caring with your coworkers, and not dominating as a boss. You can work from home with Cancer here, or do work that helps families or with your own family.

6th House in Leo

You can take pride in the work that you do, and need praise for what you complete. You can dedicate yourself fully to your work, and want to be in the spotlight. When work isn't going well, you feel lethargic and unhealthy. You can be prone to heart or back problems. You can work in the theater or film with Leo here, be in the public eye yourself, or do work that helps people in some way.

6th House in Virgo

You're likely focused on the details in your work, and can get so lost in them that you never actually finish the job. You prefer work that's practical and uses your mind. Your health is of great concern to you, and you pay close attention to what you eat and drink, and how much you exercise. When stressed, it manifests physically, and you can have stomach issues. You can work with animals or do something in healthcare with Virgo here.

6th House in Libra

You can be the mediator at work, the one coming up with compromises and getting coworkers to play fair. You may work well with others, and do best with a partner. You likely need harmony in your work environment, and without it, you become very ill. Balance is important for your health in general. With Libra here, you can work in the arts or beauty industry, or with the law.

6th House in Scorpio

You're likely serious about your work, and can become obsessed with it at times. You may be too intense for coworkers to deal with, and can work best on your own. When you're emotionally and mentally drained, it leads to health problems for you. You can have issues with your reproductive health. With Scorpio here, you can do work in science, research, or in finance.

6th House in Sagittarius

You're likely a fun coworker, someone who tries to make people laugh and enjoy their work, but you may not take your work very seriously at all if you don't care for it. On the flipside, you can work yourself ragged if you love your work, and need to not overdo it. You can have problems with weight, overeating, or drinking. With Sagittarius here, you can do work that involves travel, writing, or teaching.

6th House in Capricorn

You may have great self-discipline with work, but you need to make sure the work that you're doing is fulfilling, or you just waste your time. You may prefer to stay in a job for a long time, not wanting instability with work. You can either be a workaholic, or avoid work entirely. You try to be responsible with your health, and can have issues with your skin, bones, nails, and teeth. With Capricorn here, you can work in politics, government, or as an entrepreneur.

6th House in Aquarius

You may need work that's unusual, innovative, or forward-thinking, or a work environment that's different in some way. Without that, you get bored. You can do well working in groups, and become friends with coworkers. Your nerves can cause all sorts of health problems for you, and you need to learn to corral your wild energy. With Aquarius here, you can work in science, technology, or invention.

6th House in Pisces

Your emotions may be directly tied to your work, and if you're doing work that's fulfilling, you feel great. If you're not, it has an impact on your physical health. You can do well as an employee rather than a boss, but need to make sure you don't get taken advantage of. You may worry too much about your work. Watch for health issues with your nervous system, toxicity, or your feet. With Pisces here, you can do work that helps others, or work with spirituality or the metaphysical.

The 8th House in the Signs

8th House in Aries

You may believe that you know the best way to handle joint finances, and you'll push to do things your way. When you need to transform in life, you can face it directly and get started without the help of anyone. You may try to rush it though, and need to learn that change doesn't happen overnight.

8th House in Taurus

You're likely good with investing and saving, but maybe not with sharing, and prefer to hold on to what you have. You can use your senses to help you transform in your life, and take your time when making important changes. You can take too long to begin though, and may need a swift kick to get you started.

8th House in Gemini

You can come up with lots of ways to deal with your joint finances, investing, and saving money. You may find life to be very interesting, and want to dive into problems. You can use your mind when you need to transform, and you have a strong mental will to help you get through trying times.

8th House in Cancer

You may prefer to go the traditional route when it comes to joint finances and investing, and don't want to take any chances. You can spend a lot of time dwelling on your emotions, but not be open with your needs. Your emotions may drive you to transform in life, as well as your home and family.

8th House in Leo

You're likely enthusiastic about investing and joint finances, and you have fun with it. You don't like to hoard your money, but you do like to have control over every penny. You can inspire yourself to transform to improve your self-esteem and confidence, and to get what you want out of life.

8th House in Virgo

You're likely cautious when it comes to joint finances and investing, and won't do anything impulsive or unconventional without checking it out first and understanding the details. When it comes to transforming, you can use your mind to help you, be inspired to by your health, and you can transform in a structured, ordered way.

8th House in Libra

You can gain or improve your financial resources through a partner. You can work well with a partner to invest and share in the financial responsibilities. You may try to be fair about who should handle what, and you're willing to compromise. You can transform because of or with the help of a partner.

8th House in Scorpio

You're likely secretive when it comes to your handling of joint finances and investing, and this can get you into trouble. You may need to be more open with your feelings about other people. You can transform many times throughout your life, and when everyone thinks you're down for good, you get right back up.

8th House in Sagittarius

You can almost seem lucky when it comes to joint finances and investing, and choose a partner who has a great head for the numbers, or get the financial help you need in life at just the right time. You can benefit greatly from a partner. Transformation is something you can embrace and go into with an optimistic attitude.

8th House in Capricorn

You're likely cautious and responsible with joint finances and investing. You opt for traditional methods that take time, but have stood the test of time and will work out eventually. You may be responsible for someone else's finances. You transform to help you mature, grow, and evolve into the person you should be, and to achieve the goals you have.

8th House in Aquarius

You can take an unconventional approach to dealing with joint finances and investing. You can play around with the stock market, take big risks on a whim, and sometimes it pays off, and sometimes it doesn't. You can transform yourself quickly and without much thought, and do so in unusual ways.

8th House in Pisces

You may worry about your joint finances and investing, fearing the worst, but you need to trust your intuition, which is very strong. You may need to set aside what you want for the sake of others. Transforming yourself may require some sacrifices, and you can be inspired spiritually to change.

The 9th House in the Signs

9th House in Aries

You can enjoy going on adventures, and you have no problems coming up with plans to do work that's new and interesting. You may have an optimistic attitude, and you feel that you can get anything done that you really want to.

9th House in Taurus

You tend to be a traditional person and don't break out from what you were raised to believe very often. You may stick to what you know, and avoid anything new or different. You may like to travel, especially to beautiful places.

9th House in Gemini

You're likely logical when it comes to your beliefs, thinking them through and asking about the facts. Your actual beliefs may vary, and you lose interest in them quickly. You can have a thirst for knowledge that needs to be quenched.

9th House in Cancer

Your emotions can influence your beliefs, and you go with what your feelings tell you. You like to do work for other people. You may prefer going away from where you grew up, and find you're comfortable in foreign places and know how to adapt to various cultures.

9th House in Leo

Your belief in yourself can be strong, and you're a naturally confident person. You may love to learn, and you especially love to travel. Being stuck in one place won't do it for you. You may find that traveling is one of the best things for your soul.

9th House in Virgo

You're likely a logical person when it comes to your beliefs, and you like to study various beliefs and cultures. Whatever you do believe, you may know a lot about, and you've studied it thoroughly.

9th House in Libra

You may have a strong sense of equality, fairness, and justice, and want people to be treated well. You can enjoy learning, and you feel that you should always put your best foot forward. You can give all beliefs and cultures respect.

9th House in Scorpio

You can be interested in the mysteries of life, and will research beliefs that may be taboo or dark. You may want to know what makes the world tick. You can throw yourself into learning whatever interests you.

9th House in Sagittarius

You may want to expand your mind in life, experience what the world has to offer you, and are always looking for more from life. Your beliefs likely aren't radical, but you're a positive person and want to have a good standard to live up to.

9th House in Capricorn

Your beliefs tend to be conventional, and you don't buy into ideas that seem far-fetched. You may require facts and figures in order to believe in something. You may not like to travel, and will only do so when required for work or to fulfill a responsibility.

9th House in Aquarius

Your beliefs tend to be unconventional, and you're open to many different beliefs. You like to surround yourself with people who will challenge your beliefs, and you're a progressive person. You can enjoy travel, and do so to shake things up in your life.

9th House in Pisces

Your beliefs can be important to you, and you apply them to your daily life. You may be fiercely spiritual or religious, and believe this helps you solve your problems. Travel may not be something you do often, and you prefer to be around water.

The 11th House in the Signs

11th House in Aries

You're likely a sociable person and enjoy spending time in groups and with your friends. You can make friends quickly, but the bonds may not be very strong. You may be driven to achieve your dreams, and you have the energy needed to attain them.

11th House in Taurus

You probably don't have a lot of friends, but you're close to the ones you do have, and will keep them in your life for a long time. You can take your time trying to achieve your dreams, and your dreams are likely about increasing your sense of security in life.

11th House in Gemini

You can have a lot of friends, though they may be mostly casual, and need the social interaction for mental stimulation. When it comes to your dreams, you may have two specifically that you want, or go from one dream to the next quickly.

11th House in Cancer

You may prefer having your friends over to your house, and love a small dinner party. You can have a small group of close friends that are like family to you. Your dreams may include doing something to help people who are in need.

11th House in Leo

You like to be the leader of the group, and shine with your friends. You can have many casual acquaintances, but also a close group of friends that you're loyal to. You may dream of having status and being admired publicly.

11th House in Virgo

You likely don't make too many close friends, but are loyal to the ones you have and willing to help them with whatever they need. You tend to be practical with your dreams, and try to figure out how you can realistically make things happen.

11th House in Libra

You may be the one who helps everyone to get along with your friends, who organizes truces and plays the mediator. You can have many friends, and you try to give them equal time. You can even marry a friend. You can vacillate with your dreams, unsure of what you want.

11th House in Scorpio

You're likely attracted to friends that are powerful and that share the same view of the world you have. You're picky about who you become friends with, but loyal. You can become obsessed with your dreams, and work hard to make them happen.

11th House in Sagittarius

You may have plenty of friends from all walks of life, but most of them are casual relationships. You may want to be around people who you can have raucous debates with. You can have big dreams, and no matter how big they are, they can fall into place easily for you.

11th House in Capricorn

You likely don't have many friends, but are close to the ones you do have. You may sacrifice friendships until you feel you've attained the goals you want in life. You work hard toward your dreams, trying to make them a reality, and don't need anyone's help.

11th House in Aquarius

You may want to be around people who are interesting, innovative, and original. You can thrive in a group setting, and can be a bit of a rebel. Your dreams tend to be unusual in some way, and you can take unusual steps to achieve them.

11th House in Pisces

You'll likely do anything for your friends, but need to make sure that you see them for who they really are, and accept them as such. You can be very charitable, and will give far more than you have. Your dreams tend to involve helping others, or are wildly fantastical.

The 12th House in the Signs

12th House in Aries

When you feel comfortable, you can be someone who can take charge of a situation or problem. You can be an energetic person, but only behind closed doors, and you're surprisingly assertive, and subconsciously sure of yourself.

12th House in Taurus

You may crave security in your life far more than you let on, and you come across as less stable than you actually are. When you feel comfortable, you're sensual, indulgent, and calm, a grounding energy for those around you, and hard-working.

12th House in Gemini

You may have an active mind, but only when you're by yourself. When comfortable, you can come up with great ideas, have quick wit, and are more logical than you come across as. You may let your emotions cloud your judgment at times, and need to use more reason.

12th House in Cancer

You can keep your emotions to yourself, not wanting anyone to see just how emotional you are. You may come across as fun and free, but when comfortable, you can show how sensitive you are. You may need to work on being more sensitive to other people.

12th House in Leo

When you feel comfortable, out of the spotlight, you can thrive. You can be a powerhouse and a great leader when no one is looking at you. You can avoid attention, be shy and quiet publicly, and are more powerful than you seem.

12th House in Virgo

You can be more judgmental of other people than you seem, and think long and hard before you speak out. When comfortable, you're practical, reserved, and detail-oriented. If you keep your nerves to yourself, it impacts your health.

12th House in Libra

You may have a hard time working with other people, and taking on a partner isn't recommended for you. You may seem like someone who does everything alone, but when comfortable, you can be romantic and diplomatic. You need to put yourself out there more.

12th House in Scorpio

You can keep a lot locked away in your vault of secrets, and shun views that seem taboo. When comfortable, you're more interested in these ideas than you come across. You're more powerful than anyone realizes, even yourself.

12th House in Sagittarius

You may come across as someone who doesn't care much for spirituality or religion, but when comfortable, you're quite philosophical and interested in people's beliefs. Alone with those you're close to, you're funny, warm, and know how to have a good time.

12th House in Capricorn

Subconsciously, you may feel like you're constantly restricted in your life, no matter what you do. You can seem overwhelmed by responsibility on the outside, but when alone, comfortable, or out of the spotlight, you're practical, responsible, and focused.

12th House in Aquarius

You're likely far more of a humanitarian than you come across as, and need to help other people in this life. When comfortable, you're innovative, independent, and a rebel. You can have a hard time dealing with people in a group.

12th House in Pisces

You can come across as someone who is more assertive and aggressive than you actually are. When alone or comfortable, you're sweet, compassionate, and sensitive. You may need to learn to show these qualities publicly without worry, and to listen to what your gut tells you.
