Transit Venus Ingresses

Venus in Aries (started February 7th)

Venus in Aries makes us more take charge in love, and we can take initiative, feel more assertive with others, and can make romantic overtures. We can be more assertive in general in our dealings with others, and have a more positive, energetic approach to dealing with relationships. We have to watch for being more naive, impatient, and selfish.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Aries?

Where can you take initiative and be assertive?

Venus in Taurus

Venus in Taurus puts Venus in one of the signs it naturally rules, and we can be more sensual, indulgent, and slow things down. It's a good time to get in the moment, especially in your relationships, and savor all of the good things in your relationships and with your loved ones. Just watch for stubbornness and feeling stuck in your relationships (with Uranus also in Taurus, that can result in some reckless decisions that leave relationships in bad positions!).

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Taurus?

How can you be more in the moment with others?

Venus in Gemini

Venus in Gemini lasts for a while in 2020 because Venus will retrograde in this sign (more on that in the retrograde section!). Venus in Gemini brings focus on our mental connections with others and how we communicate with one another. It's important to have open, honest dialogue with the people you care about, otherwise this can create major problems (which is more likely with Venus retrograde in this sign). Tackle communication and expression issues in your relationships, and work to open your mind with others.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Gemini?

How can you improve communication with others?

Venus in Cancer

Venus in Cancer gives us a break from the mind after the long period of Venus in Gemini, and we turn toward emotions with Cancer. This is likely sorely needed by this time, and we have to work on being more emotionally understanding, supportive, and nurturing with others and with ourselves. Take care of the foundation of your relationships and make sure they're solid and secure. This can help you come out of the Gemini period in better shape.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Cancer?

How can you improve the foundation of relationships and be more emotionally connected?

Venus in Leo

Venus in Leo brings some needed light energy to love and relationships, and we can get out of our heads and not get so mired in serious emotions while Venus is in Leo. The focus is on the heart, what makes us feel good, and we can be more affectionate, friendly, and want to have a good time with loved ones. It's a good time for dating and the fun side to love. We can also connect with our inner child, and the children in your life can get more of your affection.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Leo? How can you make things lighter in love and enjoy yourself with others?

Venus in Virgo

Venus in Virgo gets us back to business, and we can focus on the details in love and relationships. We can pay closer attention to the little things, and this can help us figure out what needs to be worked on. It can also make us a little nitpicky and want perfectionism, so this has to be managed. We can be more practical in relationships, and make more practical choices or decisions. We may be less romantic in the usual sense, but more dedicated.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Virgo? What details can you tend to in relationships, and how can you be more practical with others?

Venus in Libra

Venus in Libra brings Venus home to one of the signs it naturally rules (along with Taurus), and Libra is the sign of relationships, ruling the people in our lives. We can focus more on others, wanting to improve all of our connections and be better partners and supporters of those we care about. We may want more commitment from those we're invested in, and can work to keep the peace, get everyone on the same page, and create a harmonious environment for all.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Libra? How can you be a better partner and create more harmonious environments?

Venus in Scorpio

Venus in Scorpio makes us more serious about love and relationships. Scorpio doesn't want fluff or anything superficial, so this is a time to dig deeper into your relationships, to understand the people in your life better, and to make transformations of your relationships to improve them. We can be more intense and passionate, which can be helpful in healthy relationships, but may result in some obsession or anger in unhealthy ones.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Scorpio?

How can you transform, dig deeper, and use passion with others?

Venus in Sagittarius

2020 ends with Venus in Sagittarius, and this puts Venus in the sign that loves space. That can make us crave more freedom in our relationships, more space to do our own thing without having anyone to weigh us down. This can result in pushing some people away, which isn't so good; but it can be a good period for having adventures with your loved ones and doing new and exciting things together that create new experiences for you to recall forever.

What natal house(s) will be impacted for you with Venus in Sagittarius?

What adventures can you go on or new experiences can you have with loved ones?

Venus Retrograde 2020

Venus didn't retrograde in 2019, so 2020 comes with it! A planet is retrograde when it appears to be moving backward through the Zodiac from our view here on Earth (it isn't actually and only appears that way). Retrogrades aren't the normal energy for the planets, forward motion is, so their energy can operate a little differently while retrograde. This tends to be most obvious with the retrogrades of the personal planets: Mercury, Mars, and of course, Venus!

Venus is the planet of love and relationships, as well as money, so Venus retrograde can create (or bring out) all sorts of issues with the people in your life, and cause some financial challenges. Double whammy!

The 2020 Venus retrograde occurs entirely in air sign Gemini. Gemini is the sign of the mind, governing communication and your immediate environment. Venus retrograde in Gemini likely targets communication for all of us, and there's sure to be way more misunderstandings than usual. With Venus naturally ruling Libra, this planet likes to keep the peace and express itself diplomatically, but with the retrograde in Gemini, there is likely to be a lot of harsh words flying around. Watch what you say and how you say it! We'll definitely need to be more mindful.

Existing communication issues in relationships are likely to be exposed, and you have to deal with it or more issues may arise. If there's something you've been holding back on saying, it may explode out at some point during the retrograde. Try to plan to say it so you can say it right, and don't let it blow (it might blow everything away!).

There can be challenges with those in our communities as well, and the people we come into contact with regularly. Be mindful of your communications with them, and try to work on seeing their side to things. This may be an issue in general with this retrograde, and we have to keep open minds as much as possible.

Gemini is a very busy sign; since it rules the mind, it likes to be kept busy. Meanwhile Venus likes to take things slow (links to Taurus), and is even lazier while retrograde. So try to find some balance between the two, and don't take on too much (you just end up running yourself ragged and causing unnecessary stress and anxiety), but also don't let laziness take over (do take action and make things happen; once you succumb to laziness, it may be difficult to get moving!).

Venus retrograde begins square (hard aspect, 3 signs away) transit Neptune (which goes exact May 20th and is the only major aspect that goes exact before and after the retrograde, so it's in effect early May through late July). So add in the Neptunian fog, and oh yeah, miscommunications galore! We may have great difficulty understanding what people mean, or being clear ourselves. We have to work to be more compassionate while being walked all over, and healthy boundaries without lacking empathy may be a delicate balance. And watch for secrets to be exposed!

In an interesting bit, Venus retrograde does conjunct (align with) Vesta on May 15th. Vesta corresponds to the home and family, as well as the "sacred fire", that which lights us up within, and a purity of focus. Vesta is very female-focused (those Vestal Virgins, the keepers of the flame), while Venus is the feminine, so there's likely to be some super female-focused energy around this time. Perhaps tend to the relationships with the women in your life! Could also be a good time to work on communication and expression within the family.

The retrograde starts May 13th @ 2:45AM ET/May 12th @ 11:45PM PT at 21 degrees 50 minutes Gemini and ends June 25th @ 2:48AM ET/June 24th @ 11:48PM PT at 5 degrees 20 minutes Gemini. If you have any planets between 5 and 21 degrees, they're being aspected at some point during the retrograde; and if you have anything between 5 and 21 degrees of Gemini, oh boy that planet is getting a direct hit! Watch for super stubbornness, laziness, challenges with others, major communication problems, and feeling a little stuck. Try to take some control and push yourself to move forward.

You can be more charming and friendly, making you more attractive. You can be more compromising, vacillating, and have good manners, but be a little distant emotionally.

Transit Venus in the 2nd House

When transit Venus is in your 2nd house, you want to feel more secure in your life with Venus here, and usually it's through spending money and having physical objects around you that make you feel good. The people you're most attracted to during this time are ones who make you feel more secure with your life, increase your self-esteem, and share your values. You also prefer stable people over those who are more erratic since you desire more comfort in your life. You could meet someone through dealing with money (like at a store or bank) or who works with money (like an accountant or banker). You want someone who you can carry a conversation with about whatever interests you, and you may be attracted to more than one person. The third house is naturally ruled by Gemini, a sign of duality, so there could be two people that pique your interest. You could meet someone on a short trip or through a sibling, neighbor, or online, and the person could be a writer, work with young people, a community organizer, or work in communications. You find more pleasure in communicating and engaging with other people, and you can find the right words to say when you need to.

A family member could introduce you to someone, and you could meet someone who works with homes in some way (like an interior designer, carpenter, or architect), is a caregiver, family counselor, or nurse. While Venus is in the 4th house, if it makes an easy aspect to the Sun (if you're looking for a male) or Moon (if you're looking for a female), that can be a trigger for meeting someone. you see on television and in movies; you want to recreate those incredibly romantic scenes). Attracting new loves is easier during this transit, and you'll be the one getting chased rather than doing the chasing. You could meet someone through a hobby or who works in a creative field. You get more satisfaction from digging underneath the surface, investigating subjects, and having greater intimacy.

You could take a long trip and meet someone on your travels, or become interested in someone from a foreign country or who lives an entirely different lifestyle than you do. You could also begin dating someone that you've been friends with for a long time; maybe you've liked them or they've liked you and it comes out, or maybe you just start seeing each other differently. You feel good about your future, and find pleasure in things that are unusual or unconventional. You embrace individuality more.
